Southwestern Part Of City Flooded By Water From Delaware

MANY FAMILIES DRIVEN FROM HOMES
(International News Service)
PHILADELPHIA, June 20.—Southwestern Philadelphia today was as water-logged as Venice, as residents surveyed damage wrought by one of the worst floods of years when the rain-swollen Delaware river overflowed its banks, toppling over trees, inundating whole sections and driving frightened families to top floors of their houses to escape the angry, swirling waters.

Following 24 hours of the flood during which many residents of Eastwick in southwestern Philadelphia and Tinticum township, Delaware county, resorted to boats to "navigate," Red Cross officials today estimated that 200 residents of Tinticum needed immediate relief.

Many Eastwick families fled the advancing waters, while others valiantly climbed higher in their water-enveloped homes, out of reach of the rising deluge.

"I wouldn't be surprised if they don't try to show where we was on the note, and they will be suing us."

Charge Made Here Against Roxie Long In Grocery Store Swindle

POLICE SEARCHING FOR ACCUSED MAN

Virginia Long, wife of Roxie Long, sometimes known as Roxie De Pippa, Pittsburgh racketeer, was released on $500 bail Tuesday night by Alderman O. H. P. Green on a charge of receiving stolen goods. At the same time information was laid in the office of Alderman Green charging Roxie Long with cheating and defrauding wholesale grocers here, and Long and Samuel Hoffman with conspiracy.

County Detective Leslie today returned a considerable pile of groceries from the store of Roxie Long in Pittsburgh, which will be used as evidence when and if Long is returned to New Castle for trial. Pittsburgh police are looking for him today.

Swindle Worked Here.
The case arises out of a swindle worked on New Castle wholesale grocers some days ago. A man representing himself to be Samuel Hoffman ordered a list of goods from several wholesalers and gave them checks which proved worthless. A checkup of the store in the seventh ward revealed the fact that the goods had been moved out.

City police began work on the case and later the district attorney's office found that Long was accused of working the same game in Pittsburgh. District Attorney M. L. Ailey and County Detective A. Sharpe Lesman went to Pittsburgh and with the Pittsburgh police found cases of goods in the store of Roxie Long which had come from New Castle.

Apparently the same swindle was worked in Overbrook, near Pittsburgh, as similar charges have been lodged against Long there. If he is located by the police, an effort will be made to return him to New Castle for trial.

WOMAN'S DISAPPEARANCE IS STILL MYSTERY

Poderjay's First Wife May Talk

Police Hope For Clues In Miss Tufverson Mystery In Short Time

BLOODSTAINS IN TRUNK ARE FACTOR

(International News Service) VIENNA, June 20.—Possibilities of a break in the loyalty between Ivan Poderjay and the wife he married in London, Marguerite Susanne Ferrand, a loyalty which has blocked police inquiries from obtaining a definite clue as to the disappearance or the death of Agnes Tufverson, New York corporation lawyer, was seen today with the employment by Mme. Ferrand of a separate lawyer.

Mme. Ferrand's lawyer, Leopold Bestermann, immediately indicated that he had no use for Poderjay and had no intention of shielding him either from the charge of bigamy now lodged against him for his marriage to Miss Tufverson in New York eight months after his marriage to Mme. Ferrand in London, or from the suspicion of murder now freely voiced by the police of Vienna and New York.

"My client," he said, "is just another victim of an unscrupulous and clever swindler."

Claims Ignorance Of Fate But Mme. Ferrand herself under continued police questioning, still professed her loyalty to the smooth Jugo-Slavian and her ignorance of the fate of his American wife, whose clothes she was wearing when arrested.

Not even when confronted with the fact that there were bloodstains in Miss Tufverson's trunk which was found in her apartment did she break down.

The presence of the bloodstains was determined by a lamp, which operates much like an X-ray, a new contribution to scientific detective work made by the Viennese police.

In further checking up on Poderjay, Viennese police found that the Don Juan of the Balkans whose career extended to two continents, formerly made his living in Vienna as a fortune-teller. He operated an astrological salon and was especially adept in telling Viennese ladies what the stars held in store for them but in spite of his blandishments he finally had to close shop and leave the city.

Members of the First Christian church scout troop 15 met at the church on Tuesday evening at 7:30 o'clock to honor members of their troop who won the camporee contest of the Lawrence county council, Boy Scouts of America, at Camp John M. Phillips on June 15-16.

Scoutmaster Sidney Smith was in charge. Troop Committeeman Ferver was present. Opening exercises were held and dues collected.

This is the third consecutive year in which troop 15 has won the camporee. Committeeman Ferver presented the camporee team with an axe as a reward for their excellent work in the contest. This team is very unusual because there are so many churches represented on the one team. Following are the members of the winning patrol and the churches they represent: Patrol Leader Herman Kitchen, First Christian; Assistant Patrol Leader Robert Moore, First U. P.; Walter Conover, First U. P.; James Pherson, First Methodist; Ed Schlosberg, First U. P.; Ray Flavin, St. Mary's; Bud Pondrick, First Christian. Team coaches were Ralph Montgomery, Bill Pherson, Bob Ray, Fulton Cook and Russell Book. It was due to their good coaching and the efforts of the team members that won the contest for the troop.

Mr. Ferver also checked the troop equipment and gave suggestions on how to care for the equipment. Due to one of his suggestions, Sea Scout Ed Schlosberg was appointed custodian of troop property.

Two new members were admitted to the troop, Charles Pherson and William Fogarty.

Famous Prisoner Asks For Pardon

Albert Carelli, Alleged Leader Of "Blue Bandana Gang" Is Very Sick Man

(International News Service) HARRISBURG, June 20.—Albert Carelli, alleged leader of Pittsburgh's notorious "Blue Bandana" gang, today asked the pardon board to free him from prison so that he can attempt to regain his lost health.

Once freed by a pardon from a life term for murder, Carelli now is serving 28 to 39 years on robbery charges.

While in prison, Carelli has lost 65 pounds in weight and has spent nearly half his time in the prison hospital, his attorney, Joseph A. Rossi, told the board of pardons.

This man, during his years in prison has proceeded to apply himself to honorable employment," said Rossi. "Now he needs a fifth operation, a delicate operation, which doctors say should be performed in a hospital."

C. H. Beagle, a well-known banker and manufacturer, the son of the intended victim, notified government agents of the receipt of the letter.

Rabbit Raising At Jordan Farm Shows Excellent Results

Experiment Entered Upon In 1932 Quite Successful; Require No Attention

At the Jordan state game farm, just outside of Harlansburg, there is a side-industry in progress that is of intense interest to the sportsmen in Lawrence county and the entire state of Pennsylvania. Although still in the experimental stage, the propagation of wild cottontail rabbits is showing very satisfactory results.

This experiment being carried on in one woody and swampy corner of the vast game farm is conspicuous for another reason—the fact that it requires practically no attention whatever. This is interesting in the midst of a territory that buzzes with activity and has daily work enough to keep Superintendent V. T. Warzel and a squad of assistants constantly busy.

Rabbit raising was started on a small scale at the Jordan farm in the spring of 1932. Since then it has been a success not anticipated and the entire first allotment released stayed right in Lawrence county.

Thirty rabbits were placed in a fenced in (vermin tight) area. Small plots of clover and turnips were planted for them and except for providing some food in winter, no further attention was given them.

Two hundred rabbits were trapped and released the first season.

According to the game commission the cottontail rabbit affords the gunners of Pennsylvania, on the whole, more sport than any other game and between two and three and one-half million of these animals are killed each year. The rabbit also kills easy prey to many natural enemies and to the automobile. Consequently there is a tremendous drain on the species, and to keep the stock at a level where it can withstand this heavy toll it is necessary to restock the covers of the state each year as generously as possible.

In the past the great majority of rabbits for restocking were purchased from traps in some of the western states, particularly Missouri and Kansas. It is natural to suppose that the sportsmen of Pennsylvania would never allow cottontail rabbits to be trapped and shipped out of this commonwealth, and that sentiment is beginning to spread through the western states. The year Kansas prohibited the exportation of live rabbits.

With an eye to the future the board of game commissioners in 1931 entered upon a series of experiments in raising cottontail rabbits in semi-wild environments and the Jordan farm was one of the places chosen for these experiments.

Police Hope For Clues In Miss Tufverson Mystery In Short Time

BLOODSTAINS IN TRUNK ARE FACTOR

(International News Service)
VIENNA, June 20.—Possibilities of a break in the mystery of the disappearance of the first wife of the late John Poderjay, who was married in London, Marguerite Susanne Ferrand, a lady which has blocked police inquiries from obtaining a definite clue as to the disappearance or the death of Agnes Tufverson, New York corporation lawyer, was seen today with the employment by Mme. Ferrand of a separate lawyer.

Mme. Ferrand's lawyer, Leopold Bestermann, immediately indicated that he had no use for Poderjay and had no intention of shielding him, either from the charge of bigamy now lodged against him for his marriage to Miss Tufverson in New York eight months after his marriage to Mme. Ferrand in London, or from the suspicion of murder now freely voiced by the police of Vienna and New York.

"My client," he said, "is just another victim of an unscrupulous and clever swindler."

Claims Ignorance Of Fate
But Mme. Ferrand herself under continued police questioning, still professed her loyalty to the smooth Jugo-Slavian and her ignorance of the fate of his American wife, whose clothes she was wearing when arrested.

Not even when confronted with the fact that there were bloodstains in Miss Tufverson's trunk which was found in her apartment did she break down.

The presence of the bloodstains was determined by a lamp, which operates much like an X-ray, a new contribution to scientific detective work made by the Viennese police.

In further checking up on Poderjay, Viennese police found that the Don Juan of the Balkans whose career extended to two continents, formerly made his living in Vienna as a fortune-teller. He operated an astrological salon and was especially adept in telling Viennese ladies what the stars held in store for them but in spite of his blandishments he finally had to close shop and leave the city.

WOMAN'S DISAPPEARANCE IS STILL MYSTERY

Poderjay's First Wife May Talk

Police Hope For Clues In Miss Tufverson Mystery In Short Time

BLOODSTAINS IN TRUNK ARE FACTOR

(International News Service)
VIENNA, June 20.—Possibilities of a break in the loyalty between Ivan Poderjay and the wife he married in London, Marguerite Susanne Ferrand, a loyalty which has blocked police inquirers from obtaining a definite clue as to the disappearance or the death of Agnes Tufverson, New York corporation lawyer, was seen today with the employment by Mme. Ferrand of a separate lawyer.

Mme. Ferrand's lawyer, Leopold Besterman, immediately indicated that he had no use for Poderjay and had no intention of shielding him, either from the charge of bigamy now lodged against him for his marriage to Miss Tufverson in New York eight months after his marriage to Mme. Ferrand in London, or from the suspicion of murder now freely voiced by the police of Vienna and New York.

"My client," he said, "is just another victim of an unscrupulous and clever swindler."

Claims Ignorance Of Fate
But Mme. Ferrand herself under continued police questioning, still professed her loyalty to the smooth Jugo-Slavian and her ignorance of the fate of his American wife, whose clothes she was wearing when arrested.

Not even when confronted with the fact that there were bloodstains in Miss Tufverson's trunk which was found in her apartment did she break down.

The presence of the bloodstains was determined by a lamp, which operates much like an X-ray, a new contribution to scientific detective work made by the Viennese police.

In further checking up on Poderjay, Viennese police found that the Don Juan of the Balkans whose career extended to two continents, formerly made his living in Vienna as a fortune-teller. He operated an astrological salon and was especially adept in telling Viennese ladies that the stars held in store for them but in spite of his blandishments he finally had to close shop and leave the city.

Hailed As Brave Leader.
New Haven, Conn., June 20.—President Franklin D. Roosevelt today was awarded the highest honor Yale university can bestow, that of the degree of doctor of laws, and was hailed a "brave leader in a time of peril" by James Rowland Angell, Yale president, at the 23rd commencement exercises in historic Woolsey hall.

Surrounded by high dignitaries of nation, state and university, the president was the last of 12 individuals to be honored with degrees today. Others included President James Bryant Conant of Harvard and Dr. John Levi Rice, New York City health commissioner.

Two sets of rules were shown at the meeting last Saturday, but the rules on file in Harrisburg provide that a proxy must be voted by a person living in the same precinct as does the county committee man giving the proxies. Nobody seemed to know where the other set of rules came from.

After a general discussion of the case Mr. Preston asked what the crowd wanted to do. The consensus of opinion was that Dr. Meehan had been unfairly treated and that the proper course to take was to file quo warranto proceedings.

Court Upholds Gold Action

Court Rules On Constitutionality Of Action Of Congress, In Regard To Gold

(International News Service)
ST. LOUIS, June 20.—The constitutionality of the action of congress a year ago in declaring payments in gold to be against public policy was upheld by United States District Judge C. B. Farris here today.

The ruling was made in one of the first court tests in the country of the right of congress to suspend gold payments and its effect, if upheld by the United States supreme court, would be that all government and private obligations may be paid in paper money or any other medium fixed by congress regardless of prior contracts for payment in gold.

Camporee Winners Paid High Tribute

Troop 15 Salutes Its Victorious Team In Program At Church

Members of the First Christian church scout troop 15 met at the church on Tuesday evening at 7:30 o'clock to honor members of their troop who won the camporee contest of the Lawrence county council, Boy Scouts of America, at Camp John M. Phillips on June 15-16. Scoutmaster Sidney Smith was in charge. Troop Committeeman Ferver was present. Opening exercises were held and dues collected.

This is the third consecutive year in which troop 15 has won the camporee. Committeeman Ferver presented the camporee team with an award as a reward for their excellent work in the contest. This team is very unusual because there are so many churches represented on the one team. Following are the members of the winning patrol and the churches they represent: Patrol Leader Herman Kitchen, First Christian; Assistant Patrol Leader Robert Moore, First U. P.; Walter Conover, First U. P.; James Pherson, First Methodist; Ed Schlossberg, Tifereth Israel; William Zahner, Second U. P.; Ray Flavin, St. Mary's; Bud Fondrick, First Christian. Team coaches were Ralph Montgomery, Bill Pherson, Bob Ray, Fulton Cook and Russell Book. It was due to their good coaching and the efforts of the team members that won the contest for the troop.

Mr. Ferver also checked the troop equipment and gave suggestions on how to care for the equipment. Due to one of his suggestions, Sea Scout Ed Schlossberg was appointed custodian of troop property.

Two new members were admitted to the troop, Charles Pherson and William Fogarty.

Rabbit Raising At Jordan Farm Shows Excellent Results

Experiment Entered Upon In 1932 Quite Successful; Require No Attention

At the Jordan state game farm, just outside of Harlansburg, there is a side-industry in progress that is of intense interest to the sportsmen in Lawrence county and the entire state of Pennsylvania. Although still in the experimental stage, the propagation of wild cottontail rabbits is showing very satisfactory results.

This experiment being carried on in one woody and swampy corner of the vast game farm is conspicuous for another reason—the fact that it requires practically no attention whatever. This is interesting in the midst of a territory that buzzes with activity and has daily work enough to keep Superintendent V. T. Warfel and a squad of assistants constantly busy.

Rabbit raising was started on a small scale at the Jordan farm in the spring of 1932. Since then it has been a success not anticipated and the entire first allotment released stayed right in Lawrence county.

Thirty rabbits were placed in a fenced in (vermin tight) area. Small plots of clover and turnips were planted for them and except for providing some food in winter, no further attention was given them. Two hundred rabbits were trapped and released the first season.

According to the game commission the cottontail rabbit affords the gunners of Pennsylvania, on the whole, more sport than any other game and between two and three and one-half million of these animals are killed each year. The rabbit also falls easy prey to many natural enemies and to the automobile. Consequently there is a tremendous drain on the species, and to keep the stock at a level where it can withstand this heavy toll it is necessary to restock the covers of the state each year as generously as possible.

In the past the great majority of rabbits for restocking were purchased from trappers in some of the western states, particularly Missouri and Kansas. It is natural to suppose that the sportsmen of Pennsylvania would never allow cottontail rabbits to be trapped and shipped out of this commonwealth, and that sentiment is beginning to spread through the western states. This year Kansas prohibited the exportation of live rabbits.

With an eye to the future the board of game commissioners in 1931 entered upon a series of experiments in raising cottontail rabbits in semi-wild environments and the Jordan farm was one of the places chosen for these experiments.

Famous Prisoner Asks For Pardon

Albert Carelli, Alleged Leader Of "Blue Bandana Gang" Is Very Sick Man

(International News Service)
HARRISBURG, June 20.—Albert Carelli, alleged leader of Pittsburgh's notorious "Blue Bandana" gang, today asked the pardon board to free him from prison so that he can attempt to regain his lost health.

While in prison, Carelli has lost 65 pounds in weight and has spent nearly half his time in the prison hospital, his attorney Joseph A. Rossi, told the board of pardons.

"This man, during his years in prison has proceeded to apply himself to honorable employment," said Rossi. "Now he needs a fifth operation, a delicate operation, which doctors say should be performed in a hospital."

JANE REYNOLDS WEDS A. BAGSHAW

Another June wedding which was most impressive took place in the St. Andrew's Episcopal church, East Long avenue, this morning at 10 o'clock, when Rev. Samuel Black united in holy wedlock Miss Jane Reynolds, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. George Reynolds of 325 Harding street, and Alfred Bagshaw, son of Mr. and Mrs. Alfred Bagshaw of Aliquippa, Pa.

The bride, who was given in marriage by her father, was attractive in a white gown of mousseline de soie and she carried an arm bouquet of yellow roses.

Miss Catherine Reynolds, the bride's sister, was maid of honor, wearing also white, mousseline de soie and carrying a train of roses. Wilson Cook of Aliquippa, one of the groom's closest friends, served as best man. Mrs. T. J. Evans played a delightful program of organ selections.

Later, a wedding dinner and reception was held in the bride's home. Dinner was served to members of the immediate families and a few invited guests. Late this afternoon Mr. and Mrs. Bagshaw left for a honeymoon, expecting to spend two weeks in Kansas City, Mo. Upon returning, they will make their home in Aliquippa, Pa.

The bride was graduated with the 1934 class of the New Castle high school and has been affiliated with the Samuels Leather company for the past few years.

DINNER PARTY IS ENJOYABLE AFFAIR

Miss Gertrude Pitzer of Butler avenue, entertained the New Idea club at a nicely appointed dinner party at her home Tuesday evening.

Promptly at seven o'clock, the guests sat down at a beautifully decorated table on the lawn where a delicious chicken dinner was served. A color scheme of pale pink and baby blue was used with a centerpiece of blue delphiniums and pink carnations. Pink tapers in blue crystal holders were on either end and corsages at each place were in similar colors. The hostess had for her aide, her mother, Mrs. Long.

The remainder of the evening was spent informally with music, the chief diversion, and plans were discussed for holding a picnic near Enon Valley July 17.

Hoffman-Horn Wedding

Returning from a wedding trip to Washington, D. C., and other points of interest in the East, Edward G. Horn and his bride, who was Margaret Adelaide Hoffman, only daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Thomas C. Hoffman, will be at home to their friends in their newly built home on the Homewood-New Gallies road.

The wedding was a pretty affair of Sunday afternoon at 4:45 in the bride's home. The beautiful ring service was read by Rev. H. H. Grove who also united the lives of the bride's grandparents, Mr. and Mrs. Joseph Welch, fifty nine years ago, June 17, 1875.

The bride was lovely in white satin with matching accessories and she carried an arm bouquet of June roses and sweet peas. Her bridesmaid was Miss Esther Horn, sister of the groom, and she wore a dress of shiny yellow organdy with matching details.

The groom had as his best man, John W. Hoffman, brother of the bride. Little Leona Stratton was fairylike in a fluffy pink and white frock and she carried a tiny pink satin pillow.

EFFICIENT ON THIS SCORE

FOUR decades ago George Meredith in his famous lecture "On Comedy" laid down the principal that the social position of women in a nation was a measure of its advancement in civilization. From this point of view the fact that the United States is far ahead of Europe in the consideration shown the weaker sex is a testimonial to the superiority of American civilization. It is ground for national pride, more than matter for outlander animadversion.

Perhaps that is why no one on this side of the "big pond" took offense when Lady MacMillan, spouse of the lord justice of appeal of England, observed that American women are spoiled.

American husbands and wives will choose to believe that there was a little bit of envy and wishfulness, rather than cynicism, behind Lady MacMillan's comment. She certainly was good-humored about the contrast between the "indulgence" of wives and sweethearts in the United States and the lesser attention paid to them by British masculinity.

If there are these two distinct methods of handling women, the English can rest assured that masculinity in the United States has tried them both and found the greatest efficiency in the method in vogue here.

HOW TO PLEASE THE BURGLAR

While everyone else is on vacation, the burglar has his busiest season. L. A. Sawyer, burglary expert of the National Bureau of Casualty and Surety Underwriters, says there are certain signs that always gladden his heart.

He likes to see an accumulation of milk bottles and newspapers at doors, and always is pleased to note that mail boxes are full to running over with letters and circulars.

He approves of windows that have shades pulled down. He becomes much more confident when he sees the garage door open, and notes that the car is gone.

The burglar, continues Mr. Sawyer, is delighted to find doors fastened with fragile locks that give way to the slightest pressure. He has praise for the householder who depends upon simple catches for windows which are accessible from the ground, the roof, fire-escape or from road copings along which he can climb. He does not like such things as thumb screw catches which hold the window firm; he cannot get at them with a jimmy.

Inside the house the burglar likes to find that the housewife has placed all of her silver in a compartment of the sideboard. He likes to find the furs in a moth bag with opera cloaks and special dinner gowns.

If there is one thing that adds zest to the search of the visitor it is the practice of some housewives in hiding jewelry and money under carpets, rugs, in carelessly hung clothing, or in mattresses, pillows or the davenport. It is a game to him and he knows all the plays. It does not take long for him to win.

What the burglar does not like, Mr. Sawyer concludes, is to find strong locks on doors, special protection on windows, extra catches on dumbwaiters, and after entering, to discover that all the movable valuables have been stored elsewhere.

WORK ON THE ICE PATROL

The fact that no ship has been sunk by icebergs since the Titanic went to the bottom on the night of April 14, 1912, with a loss of more than 1,500 lives does not mean that icebergs no longer wander into the Atlantic ship lanes.

From the U. S. S. Mendota of the ice patrol came word the other day that a total of 155 icebergs had been sighted in the ship lanes this year. It was the largest number reported since the Titanic disaster.

Why these huge mountains of ice no longer are the menace to navigation they once were is explained in a bulletin issued by the National Geographic society. The reason is to be found in the fact that the sinking of the Titanic caused the international derelict destruction, ice observation and ice patrol service to be formed through an agreement reached by maritime nations at a conference in London. Management of the service was turned over to the United States, with each of the contracting parties bearing a share of the cost in proportion to its shipping tonnage.

The duty of maintaining the ice patrol was given the United States coast guard. The iceberg season is from March 1 to July 1. Approach of the season finds coast guard cutters on duty in the ice fields off Greenland. It is from the great ice cap that covers most of Greenland that the icebergs break off and begin their wanderings.

When the cutters sight one, they keep it under surveillance and keep ships warned of its course. Liners and other transatlantic craft thus are enabled to detour around it if it gets into the ship lanes.

It is the work done by these guardians of the ship lanes that has rid ocean travel of one of its greatest terrors. So thoroughly is the task performed that the iceberg virtually has been eliminated.

"STREAMLINING" OLD AS THE AZTECS

How modern is streamlining?

To most Americans it still seems in the novelty stage. We have streamlined planes, trains, automobiles and buildings. Many of the designs are so new to us that they are startling.

But Dr. George C. Vaillant, curator of Mexican archaeology at the American Museum of Natural History, declares that "our modern engineers were not the first Americans to give thought to streamlining." The Museum has received two rare clay models of "streamlined" temples built by the Aztecs to their god Quetzalcoatl.

The Aztecs used this design appropriately, too. Quetzalcoatl was their god of the air.

As a competitor of Nature in the destruction of crops, the Brain Trust ranks as an amateur.

So far, there appears to be little danger of the United States becoming involved in that Arab war.

The bustle is coming back, so we hear from fashion experts. We'd prefer to hear it from business experts.

That scientist who says ice is formed in the human body through pressure in the muscle tissues will have a hard time proving his case during the torrid days ahead.

Some people cannot leave well enough alone. Former Mayor Hylan, of New York, who was once called out of office by the people, wants to hear the call of the people again.

IN PRAISE OF ROUTINE

Praise be to routine!
It saves many a life from despair,
Keeps many a soul sane and steady,
Blissed, sturdy, old stick-in-the-mud routine.

It is abused and perhaps rightly.
... Impatiently we damn it, and strain against it. . . . Cursing the dull habits of our days, getting up in the morning, going to bed at night, tying our shoe laces, shaving our faces, eating the same old food, going the same old way after day, day after day doing the same little chores, milking the cows, plowing the fields, winding the clock, locking the door, putting out the cat, cutting the lawn, washing dishes and drying them and putting them away and seeing the same people and dreaming the same dreams and going to the dentist and suffering old pains and having the same old memories too, and following down the lane of the years the same old ruts that were made by the wheels of yesterday.

Yes, that's routine and it's easy to understand why it should at times become unbearably distasteful. But it has saved many a life, that routine! When tragedy comes and the soul is harshly assailed and a poor mortal is dazed and made dumb with shock and grief, then sometimes routine is the only salvation. . . . The body wakes first, before the spirit, and goes about its necessary business, doing its habituated chores. Straightens the room. Picks up things. Prepares food. Tends to its knitting. Catches boats and trains. And goes to work. . . . And little by little it picks up the loose ends and becomes its stronger self again. . . . And the spirit grows ashamed and returns to the working body. . . . and after a while some of the joy of living comes back. . . . through the undisturbing comfort of routine.

If there is to be joy the routine must be broken occasionally. If a man is to be happy he must not stick forever in a rut. If a woman is to get anything out of life she must not go through the same motions day after day. But beneath the excitement and adventure of everyday life must lie a routine that is as regular as the coming of the day and the swing of the seasons, and the sure and splendid orbits of the planets.

The World At A Glance

Did President Compromise Too Much? Boycotts Costly To Boycotters, Too Arms Race Bears Heavily On People

By LESLIE EICHEL

Central Press Staff Writer

NEW YORK, June 20.—A commentator points out that diverse elements of the Democratic party virtually hamstringing President Roosevelt on his great social welfare measures, this past session of congress.

This is true. But the reason this congress ended with the social welfare measures either delayed or dead is more likely the president himself. In order to keep peace within his own party, in order to give industrial leaders no opportunity to say that he was preventing the "return of prosperity," the president temporized and compromised until the New Deal began to lose force. And congress, always beset by various interests, got out of control.

Now, to regain control of all the elements of the Democratic party, Postmaster General James Farley is dispensing patronage in the manner of an old-time New York politician. Even United States judges, who are named for life and who arbitrarily make and unmake laws by their decisions, are being appointed for political reasons.

Liberal friends of the president say he could have won, still can win, merely by speaking straight out. These friends say that the people soon would show how strongly they stand behind the chief executive—and the obstructing politicians would be swept aside.

BOYCOTTS COSTLY

Boycotts of German goods may be satisfying to some, but they are costly.

Germany has suspended service on all debts owed to and in foreign nations largely because she could not sell goods. Naturally, when a nation cannot sell, it cannot pay. Tariffs, boycotts, quotas, trade wars are demoralizing not only Germany but the remainder of the world.

International bankers say there cannot be any good times until trade barriers are removed.

Boycotts and tariff barriers to spank a nation morally result in such repercussions that usually the spanker is the one who gets spanked.

Sideways, many innocent workers suffer.

The toll in Germany began when impossible reparations were imposed. Germany borrowed the money from outside to pay. Now it can't repay that money, or the interest. Other nations shut off German goods.

ARMS' RACE

There can be little doubt that

Germany is rearming, and that every European nation except France will countenance that.

There is little doubt that any country is rearming.

All countries seem to find money for that, we always hear. Germany asserts she must have "parity," which is up, and the other countries agree, for they would rather have Germany rearm to their parity than to disarm to hers.

The burden is becoming impossible. And the guess is that the people of Europe will show increasing restlessness.

Dictatorships are not so likely to fall because of ruthlessness or the deprivation of liberties as inability to raise cash to go on. When that occurs, there is likely to be revolution.

As it is, a country like Germany speeds its worker, tries to get more out of him for less. That is true in Italy, also. In the United States the workers may strike for what he believes his due. In the dictator countries he would be shot.

"PAYMENT IN KIND"

New York, largest exporting city in America, naturally is interested in debts and tariffs.

The stalemate in international trade is looked upon gloomily here. The Roosevelt administration's feeling on goods for goods has formed a basis for discussion.

Says the financial column of the New York Sun (representing the views of the biggest bankers):

"A 'payment in kind' of the right sort is the only way out of the mess short of all round cancellation (of debts). Repeated to a mooted point though it has been, it still is true that money for debt payments can only be obtained through profits made on exchange of goods."

"The sort of payment of kind that Europe would be interested in is the lowering of our tariffs to permit them to sell us more goods. That ought to enable us to sell our goods abroad as well, which we must do if we are to have any permanent recovery."

WORLD AGREEMENT

A world agreement—not on armaments, or security, or money. A world agreement on trade, the free movement of trade, would go further toward insuring peace and prosperity than anything else, according to a Belgian statesman, Gustave Gerard.

EFFICIENT ON THIS SCORE

FOUR decades ago George Meredith in his famous lecture "On Comedy" laid down the principal that the social position of women in a nation was a measure of its advancement in civilization. From this point of view the fact that the United States is far ahead of Europe in the consideration shown the weaker sex is a testimonial to the superiority of American civilization. It is ground for national pride, more than matter for outlander animadversion.

Perhaps that is why no one on this side of the "big pond" took offense when Lady MacMillan, spouse of the lord justice of appeal of England, observed that American women are spoiled.

American husbands and wives will choose to believe that there was a little bit of envy and wishfulness, rather than cynicism, behind Lady MacMillan's comment. She certainly was good-humored about the contrast between the "indulgence" of wives and sweethearts in the United States and the lesser attention paid to them by British masculinity.

If there are these two distinct methods of handling women, the English can rest assured that masculinity in the United States has tried them both and found the greatest efficiency in the method in vogue here.

HOW TO PLEASE THE BURGLAR

While everyone else is on vacation, the burglar has his busiest season. L. A. Sawyer, burglary expert of the National Bureau of Casuality and Surety Underwriters, says there are certain signs that always gladden his heart.

He likes to see an accumulation of milk bottles and newspapers at doors, and always is pleased to note that mail boxes are full of running over with letters and circulars.

He approves of windows that have shades pulled down.

He becomes much more confident when he sees the garage door open, and notes that the car is gone.

The burglar, continues Mr. Sawyer, is delighted to find doors fastened with fragile locks that give way to the slightest pressure. He has praise for the householder who depends upon simple catches for windows which are accessible from the ground, the roof, fire-escape or from broad copings along which he can climb. He does not like such things as thumb screw catches which hold the window firm; he cannot get at them with a jimmy.

Inside the house the burglar likes to find that the housewife has placed all of her silver in a compartment of the sideboard. He likes to find the furs in a moth bag with opera cloaks and special dinner gowns.

If there is one thing that adds zest to the search of the visitor it is the practice of some housewives in hiding jewelry and money under carpets, rugs, in carelessly hung clothing, or in mattresses, pillows or the davenport. It is a game to him and he knows all the plays. It does not take long for him to win.

What the burglar does not like, Mr. Sawyer concludes, is to find strong locks on doors, special protection on windows, extra catches on dumbwaiters, and after entering, to discover that all the movable valuables have been stored elsewhere.

WORK ON THE ICE PATROL

The fact that no ship has been sunk by icebergs since the Titanic went to the bottom on the night of April 14, 1912, with a loss of more than 1,500 lives does not mean that icebergs no longer wander into the Atlantic ship lanes.

From the U. S. S. Mendota of the ice patrol came word the other day that a total of 165 icebergs had been sighted in the ship lanes this year. It was the largest number reported since the Titanic disaster.

Why these huge mountains of ice no longer are the menace to navigation they once were is explained in a bulletin issued by the National Geographic society. The reason is to be found in the fact that the sinking of the Titanic caused the international derelict destruction, ice observation and ice patrol service to be formed through an agreement reached by maritime nations at a conference in London. Management of the service was turned over to the United States, with each of the contracting parties bearing a share of the cost in proportion to its shipping tonnage.

The duty of maintaining the ice patrol was given the United States coast guard. The iceberg season is from March 1 to July 1. Approach of the season finds coast guard cutters on duty in the ice fields off Greenland. It is from the great ice cap that covers most of Greenland that the icebergs break off and begin their wanderings.

When the cutters sight one, they keep it under surveillance and keep ships warned of its course. Liners and other transatlantic craft thus are enabled to detour around it if it gets into the ship lanes.

It is the work done by these guardians of the ship lanes that has rid ocean travel of one of its greatest terrors. So thoroughly is the task performed that the iceberg virtually has been eliminated.

"STREAMLINING" OLD AS THE AZTECS

How modern is streamlining? To most Americans it still seems in the novelty stage. We have streamlined planes, trains, automobiles and buildings. Many of the designs are so new to us that they are startling.

But Dr. George C. Vaillant, curator of Mexican archaeology at the American Museum of Natural History, declares that "our modern engineers were not the first Americans to give thought to streamlining." The Museum has received two rare clay models of "streamlined" temples built by the Aztecs to their god Quetzalcoatl.

The Aztecs used this design appropriately, too. Quetzalcoatl was their god of the air.

As a competitor of Nature in the destruction of crops, the Brain Trust ranks as an amateur.

So far, there appears to be little danger of the United States becoming involved in that Arab war.

The bustle is coming back, so we hear from fashion experts. We'd prefer to hear it from business experts.

That scientist who says ice is formed in the human body through pressure in the muscle tissues will have a hard time proving his case during the torrid days ahead.

Some people cannot leave well enough alone. Former Mayor Hyman, of New York, who was once called out of office by the people, wants to hear the call of the people again.

IN PRAISE OF ROUTINE
Praise be to routine!
It saves many a life from despair,
keeps many a soul sane and steady.
Blessed, sturdy, old stick-in-the-mud routine.

It is abused and perhaps rightly.
... Impatiently we damn it, and strain against it. ... Cursing the dull habits of our days, getting up in the morning, going to bed at night, tying our shoe laces, shaving our faces, eating the same old food, going the same gait day after day, day after day doing the same little chores, milking the cows, plowing the fields, winding the clock, locking the door, putting out the cat, cutting the lawn, washing dishes and drying them and putting them away and seeing the same people and dreaming the same dreams and going to the dentist and suffering old pains and having the same old memories too, and following down the lane of the years the same old ruts that were made by the wheels of yesterday.

Yes, that's routine and it's easy to understand why it should at times become unbearably distasteful.

But it has saved many a life, that routine! When tragedy comes and the soul is harshly assailed and a poor mortal is dazed and made dumb with shock and grief, then sometimes routine is the only salvation. ... The body wakes first, before the spirit, and goes about its necessary business, doing its habitual chores. Straightens the room. Picks up things. Prepares food. Tends to its knitting. Catches boats and trains. And goes to work. ... And little by little it picks up the loose ends and becomes its stronger self again. ... And the spirit grows ashamed and returns to the working body. ... and after a while some of the joy of living comes back ... through the undisturbing comfort of routine.

If there is to be joy the routine must be broken occasionally. If a man is to be happy he must not stick forever in a rut. If a woman is to get anything out of life she must not go through the same motions day after day. But beneath the excitement and adventure of everyday life must lie a routine that is as regular as the coming of the day and the swing of the seasons and the sure and splendid orbits of the planets.

The World At A Glance

Did President Compromise Too Much? Boycotts Costly To Boycotters, Too Arms Race Bears Heavily On People

By LESLIE EICHEL
Central Press Staff Writer

NEW YORK, June 20.—A commentator points out that diverse elements of the Democratic party virtually hamstringing President Roosevelt on his great social welfare measures, this past session of congress.

This is true. But the reason this congress ended with the social welfare measures either delayed or dead is more likely the president himself. In order to keep peace within his own party, in order to give industrial leaders no opportunity to say that he was preventing the "return of prosperity," the president temporized and compromised until the New Deal began to lose force. And congress, always beset by various interests, got out of control.

Now, to regain control of all the elements of the Democratic party, Postmaster General James Farley is dispensing patronage in the manner of an old-time New York politician. Even United States judges, who are named for life and who arbitrarily make and unmake laws by their decisions, are being appointed for political reasons.

Liberal friends of the president say he could have won, still can win, merely by speaking straight out. These friends say that the people soon would show how strongly they stand behind the chief executive—and the obstructing politicians would be swept aside.

BOYCOTTS COSTLY

Boycotts of German goods may be satisfying to some, but they are costly.

Germany has suspended service on all debts owed to and in foreign nations largely because she could not sell goods. Nature, when a nation cannot sell, it cannot pay. Tariffs, boycotts, quotas, trade wars are demoralizing not only Germany but the remainder of the world.

International bankers say there cannot be any good times until trade barriers are removed.

Boycotts and tariff barriers to spank a nation mean a rest in such repercussions that usually the spanker is the one who gets spanked.

Besides, many innocent workers suffer.

The toll in Germany began when impossible reparations were imposed on Germany, borrowed the money from outside to pay. Now it can't repay that money, or the interest. Other nations shut of German goods.

ARMY RACE

There can be little doubt that

Germany is rearming, and that every European nation except France will countenance that.

There is little doubt that any country is rearming.

All countries seem to find money for that, we always hear. Germany asserts she must have "parity," which is up, and the other countries agree, for they would rather have Germany rearm to their parity than to disarm to hers.

The burden is becoming impossible. And the guess is that the people of Europe will show increasing restlessness.

Dictatorships are not so likely to fall because of ruthlessness or the deprivation of liberties as inability to raise cash to go on. When that occurs, there is likely to be revolution.

As it is, a country like Germany speeds its worker, tries to get more out of him for less. That is true in Italy, also. In the United States, the workers may strike for what he believes his due. In the dictator countries he would be shot.

"PAYMENT IN KIND"

New York, largest exporting city in America, naturally is interested in debts and tariffs.

The stalemate in international trade is looked upon gloomily here. The Roosevelt administration's feeling on goods for debts has formed a basis for discussion.

Says the financial column of the New York Sun representing the views of the biggest bankers:

"A 'payment in kind' of the right sort is the only way out of the mess short of all round cancellation (of debts). Repeated to a monotonous point though it has been, it still is true that money for debt payments can only be obtained through profits made on exchange of goods."

"The sort of payment of kind that Europe would be interested in is the lowering of our tariffs to permit them to sell us more goods. That ought to enable us to sell more goods abroad as well, which we must do if we are to have any permanent recovery."

WORLD AGREEMENT

A world agreement—not on armaments, or security, or money. A world agreement on trade, the free-moving of trade, would go further toward insuring peace and prosperity than anything else, according to a Belgian statesman, Gustave Gerard.

He is a member of the International Chamber of Commerce's committee on trade barriers.

The ruin of world trade means the ruin of the people of the world, says Gerard.

WEDNESDAY, JUNE 20

Great Days, June 20, 1782—Congress adopted the Great Seal of the United States.

It never has been completed! Furthermore, there are errors in the half of it used today!

It was designed by William Barton, of Philadelphia. The obverse was the half now used, an eagle bearing on his breast the national escutcheon, holding in his right talons an olive branch, and in his left a bunch of 13 arrows. Above his head were 13 stars surrounded by a halo, or glory, and a scroll bearing the legend, E Pluribus Unum.

Many in one. Every detail was emblematic. The 13 stars on the shield typified the states, the band above them Congress, to denote that the parts of the Union were held together by that body. The olive branch and the arrows were to indicate that the powers of peace and war were vested in Congress. The constellation above signified that a new nation was to take its place among the sovereign powers of the world. The escutcheon was placed upon the breast of the eagle without other support, to show that the United States of America ought to rely mainly upon their own strength and virtue.

Barton's design for the reverse side which has never been used, bore an unfinished pyramid, above it an eye, and the words Annuit Coeptis, and beneath it 1776. Novus Ordo Seclorum. The pyramid was used to signify strength and duration, and it was left unfinished to denote that the great work of building the structure of human liberty was not yet done. The motto, Annuit Coeptis, and the eye were meant to allude to the many interferences of Providence in favor of the American cause. The date of the Declaration of Independence and the words, which mean "a new series of ages," allude to the opening of a new era of human freedom and progress.

In 1841 the original Great Seal was so worn that a new one was made. In the process some unnecessary changes were made which were never rectified. The Great Seal used thereafter was not the one adopted by Congress.

(Ironically, the facts about the man who designed the Great Seal of the United States are omitted from most standard American histories.)

June 20, 1863—West Virginia seceded from Virginia because it had seceded from the Union, became the 35th state. Motto: Mountaineers Always Freemen. Flowers: Rhododendron.

June 20, 1867—The last of Russian America, which once extended into California, was ceded to the United States for $7,200,000. You know it as Alaska.

June 20, 1893—The jury in the trial of Lizzie Borden in New Bedford, Mass., brought in a verdict of acquittal after deliberating a little more than an hour, and the violent deaths of her parents became one of the most celebrated American mysteries.

Edmund Lester Pearson, crime connoisseur, says:

"The Borden case is without parallel in the criminal history of America. It is the most interesting, and perhaps the most puzzling murder which has occurred in this country. There are in it all of the elements which made such an event worth reading about it, since, in the first place, it was a mysterious crime in its class of society where such deeds of violence are not only foreign, but usually wildly impossible. It was purely a problem in murder, not complicated by scandals of any kind which lead to the crime passionnel, nor by any of the circumstances of political assassination. The evidence was wholly circumstantial. The perpetrator of the double murder was protected by a series of chances which might not happen again in a thousand years. And finally, the case attracted national attention, and divided public opinion, as no criminal prosecution has done since, nor to the best of my belief as any murder-trial in the United States had ever done before."

Thousands hoped that the truth would come out after Lizzie Borden died, that it would be proven at last that this prim Victorian spinster stripped off her clothes, slipped into the bedroom in which her father

Sheriff F. R. Veale of Martinez, California, accidentally hit upon a plan to keep Negroes in his county in the straight and narrow path.

Looking about for work to keep prisoners busy, he assigned a group to clean up two neglected old cemeteries in the county. Fences were repaired, stones straightened up and shrubbery restored. Once or twice the squad worked until after dark.

The first inking the sheriff had of the effect of this work upon Negro prisoners was when two of them left the county as soon as their terms were up. Not a member of that race has been in trouble with county officials since. They just can't like to work in those cemeteries.

EFFICIENT ON THIS SCORE

FOUR decades ago George Meredith in his famous lecture "On Comedy" laid down the principal that the social position of women in a nation was a measure of its advancement in civilization. From this point of view the fact that the United States is far ahead of Europe in the consideration shown the weaker sex is a testimonial to the superiority of American civilization. It is ground for national pride, more than matter for outlander animadversion.

Perhaps that is why no one on this side of the "big pond" took offense when Lady MacMillan, spouse of the lord justice of appeal of England, observed that American women are spoiled. American husbands and wives will choose to believe that there was a little bit of envy and wistfulness, rather than cynicism, behind Lady MacMillan's comment. She certainly was good-humored about the contrast between the "indulgence" of wives and sweethearts in the United States and the lesser attention paid to them by British masculinity.

If there are these two distinct methods of handling women, the English can rest assured that masculinity in the United States has tried them both and found the greatest efficiency in the method in vogue here.

HOW TO PLEASE THE BURGLAR

While everyone else is on vacation, the burglar has his busiest season. L. A. Sawyer, burglary expert of the National Bureau of Casualty and Surety Underwriters, says there are certain signs that always gladden his heart.

He likes to see an accumulation of milk bottles and newspapers at doors, and always is pleased to note that mail boxes are full to running over with letters and circulars.

He approves of windows that have shades pulled down.

He becomes much more confident when he sees the garage door open, and notes that the car is gone.

The burglar, continues Mr. Sawyer, is delighted to find doors fastened with fragile locks that give way to the slightest pressure. He has praise for the householder who depends upon simple catches for windows which are accessible from the ground, the roof, fire-escape or from broad creepers along which he can climb. He does not like such things as thumb screws catches which hold the window firm; he cannot get at them with a jimmy.

Inside the house the burglar likes to find that the housewife has placed all of her silver in a compartment of the sideboard. He likes to find the furs in a moth bag with opera cloaks and special dinner gowns.

If there is one thing that adds zest to the search of the visitor it is the practice of some housewives in hiding jewelry and money under carpets, rugs, in carelessly hung clothing, or in mattresses, pillows or the davenport. It is a game to him and he knows all the plays. It does not take long for him to win.

What the burglar does not like, Mr. Sawyer concludes, is to find strong locks on doors, special protection on windows, extra catches on dumbwaiters, and after entering, to discover that all the movable valuables have been stored elsewhere.

WORK ON THE ICE PATROL

The fact that no ship has been sunk by icebergs since the Titanic went to the bottom on the night of April 14, 1912, with a loss of more than 1,500 lives does not mean that icebergs no longer wander into the Atlantic ship lanes.

From the U. S. S. Mendota of the ice patrol came word the other day that a total of 165 icebergs had been sighted in the ship lanes this year. It was the largest number reported since the Titanic disaster.

Why these huge mountains of ice no longer are the menace to navigation they once were is explained in a bulletin issued by the National Geographic society. The reason is to be found in the fact that the sinking of the Titanic caused the international derelict destruction, ice observation and ice patrol service to be formed through an agreement reached by maritime nations at a conference in London. Management of the service was turned over to the United States, with each of the contracting parties bearing a share of the cost in proportion to its shipping tonnage.

The duty of maintaining the ice patrol was given the United States coast guard. The iceberg season is from March 1 to July 1. Approach of the season finds coast guard cutters on duty in the ice fields off Greenland. It is from the great ice cap that covers most of Greenland that the icebergs break off and begin their wanderings.

When the cutters sight one, they keep it under surveillance and keep ships warned of its course. Liners and other transatlantic craft thus are enabled to detour around it if it gets into the ship lanes.

It is the work done by these guardians of the ship lanes that has rid ocean travel of one of its greatest terrors. So thoroughly is the task performed that the iceberg virtually has been eliminated.

"STREAMLINING" OLD AS THE AZTECS

How modern is streamlining? To most Americans it still seems in the novelty stage. We have streamlined planes, trains, automobiles and buildings. Many of the designs are so new to us that they are startling.

But Dr. George C. Vaillant, curator of Mexican archaeology at the American Museum of Natural History, declares that "our modern engineers were not the first Americans to give thought to streamlining." The Museum has received two rare clay models of "streamlined" temples built by the Aztecs to their god Quetzalcoatl.

The Aztecs used this design appropriately, too. Quetzalcoatl was their god of the air.

As a competitor of Nature in the destruction of crops, the Brain Trust ranks as an amateur.

So far, there appears to be little danger of the United States becoming involved in that Arab war.

The bustle is coming back, so we hear from fashion experts. We'd prefer to hear it from business experts.

That scientist who says ice is formed in the human body through pressure in the muscle tissues will have a hard time proving his case during the torrid days ahead.

Some people cannot leave well enough alone. Former Mayor Hylan, of New York, who was once called out of office by the people, wants to hear the call of the people again.

IN PRAISE OF ROUTINE

Praise be to routine!
It saves many a life from despair,
Keeps many a soul sane and steady,
Blessed, sturdy, old stick-in-the-mud routine.

It is absurd and perhaps rightly.
Impudently we damn it,
And strain against it. . . . Cursing the dull habits of our days. Getting up in the morning, going to bed at night, tying our shoe laces, shaving our faces, eating the same old food, going the same gait day after day, day after day doing the same little chores, milking the cows, plowing the fields, winning the clock, locking the door, putting out the cat, cutting the lawn, washing dishes and drying them and putting them away and seeing the same people and dreaming the same dreams and going to the dentist and suffering old pains and having the same old memories too, and following down the lane of the years the same old ruts that were made by the wheels of yesterday.

Yes, that's routine and it's easy to understand why it should at times become unbearably distasteful.

But it has saved many a life, that routine! When tragedy comes and the soul is harshly assailed and a poor mortal is dazed and made dumb with shock and grief, then sometimes routine is the only salvation. . . . The body wakes first, before the spirit, and goes about its necessary business, doing its habitual chores. Straightens the room. Picks up things. Prepares food. Tends to its knitting. Catches boats and trains. And goes to work. . . . And little by little it picks up the loose ends and becomes its stronger self again. . . . And the spirit grows ashamed and returns to the working body. . . . and after a while some of the joy of living comes back. . . . through the undisturbing comfort of routine.

If there is to be joy the routine must be broken occasionally. If a man is to be happy he must not stick forever in a rut. If a woman is to get anything out of life she must not go through the same motions day after day. But beneath the excitement and adventure of everyday life must lie a routine that is as regular as the coming of the day and the swing of the seasons and the sure and splendid orbits of the planets.

BE CONSISTENT IN YOUR ECONOMIES.

Like many others you make much complaint about small financial outlays.

You object to the little sums of money spent by your family.

A short time afterward you give your consent to large expenditures and make one of a considerable amount yourself.

Naturally, you'll have a hard time in making your family economical if you pursue the course outlined.

It is hard to follow your line of reasoning, so don't be surprised if your family can't comprehend.

If you wish to instill the quality of saving among the members of your family, there must be consistency in your own spending as well as in their sanctioned expenditures.

Inconsistency will wreck any financial system.

Pinching pennies and being extravagant with dollars may be the reason your saving system has failed.

Yours is not a case of saving small amounts and allowing large sums to take care of themselves.

Your plan doesn't work that way. And consequently it is not a success.

"It's all too big and wonderful," said Billy Phelps to me.

"The county fair at Bad Axe is the one I want to see."

Chicago was the marvelous thing, but when the summer's done, it's into Bad Axe we will go to have our day of fun.

Then you and I and Dr. Charles will take the kids along To see the horses and the cows and mingle with the throng.

"We'll wander through the cattle sheds the winners to admire. We'll talk with friendly farming folk and talk of dam and sire. We'll tread once more that crowded hall where women folk display the things they've made through-out the year since we have been away. And then we'll do the poultry show and hear the roosters crow And live again the boyhood dreams we had so long ago."

"We'll eat hot dogs and ice cream cones and wash them down with pop. At every loud-voiced barker's stand our merry group will stop. We'll venture every game of chance. For blankets pink and blue We'll purchase numbers on wheel and should we win a few We'll give them to the farmers' wives, and then with hearts elate We'll squander dimes upon a man to guess the children's weight."

"We'll hear that red-garbed little band which never seems to rest. We'll stand in awe to see a man break rocks upon his chest. We'll ride the squeaking Ferris wheel, pitch rings at trinkets and miss the gaudy prize we want, and tired at close of day We'll march our ragged army home and solemnly declare No show upon the earth takes that Bad Axe county fair."

WORLD AGREEMENT

A world agreement—not on armaments, or security, or money. A world agreement on trade, the free-moving of trade, would go further toward insuring peace and prosperity than anything else according to a Belgian statesman, Gustave Gerard.

He is a member of the International Chamber of Commerce's committee on trade barriers.

The ruin of world trade means the ruin of the people of the world, says Gerard.

WEDNESDAY, JUNE 20

Great Days, June 20, 1783—Congress adopted the Great Seal of the United States.

It never has been completed! Furthermore, there are errors in the half of it used today!

It was designed by William Barton, of Philadelphia. The obverse was the half now used, an eagle bearing on his breast the national escutcheon, holding in his right talons an olive branch, and in his left a bunch of 13 arrows. Above his head were 13 stars surrounded by a halo, or glory, and a scroll bearing the legend, E Pluribus Unum (Many in one).

Every detail was emblematic. The 13 bars on the shield typified the states, the band above them Congress, to denote that the parts of the Union were held together by that body. The olive branch and the arrows were to indicate that the powers of peace and war were vested in Congress. The constellation above signified that a new nation was to take its place among the sovereign powers of the world. The escutcheon was placed upon the support, to show that the United States of America ought to rely mainly upon their own strength and virtue.

Barton's design for the reverse side which has never been used, bore an unfinished pyramid, above it an eye, and the words Annuet Coeptis, and beneath it 1776. Novus Ordo Seclorum. The pyramid was used to signify strength and duration, and it was left unfinished to denote that the great work of building the structure of human liberty was not yet done. The motto, Annuet Coeptis, and the eye were meant to allude to the opening of a new era of human freedom and progress.

In 1841 the original Great Seal was so worn that a new one was made. In the process some unnecessary changes were made which were never rectified. The Great Seal used thereafter was not the one adopted by Congress.

(Ironically, the facts about the man who designed the Great Seal of the United States are omitted from most standard American histories.)

June 20, 1863—West Virginia seceded from Virginia because it had seceded from the Union, became the 35th state. Motto: Mountaineers Always Freemen. Flowers: Rhododendron.

June 20, 1867—The last of Russian America, which once extended into California, was ceded to the United States for $7,200,000. You know it as Alaska.

June 20, 1893—The jury in the trial of Lizzie Borden in New Bedford, Mass., brought in a verdict of acquittal after deliberating a little more than an hour, and the violent deaths of her parents became one of the most celebrated American mysteries.

Edmund Lester Pearson, crime connoisseur, says:

"The Borden case is without parallel in the criminal history of America. It is the most interesting, and perhaps the most puzzling murder which has occurred in this country. There are in it all of the elements which made such an event first place, it was a mysterious crime in a class of society where such deeds of violence are not only foreign, but usually wildly impossible. It was purely a problem in murder, not complicated by scandal, or of any kind which lead to the crime passionnel, nor by any of the circumstances of political assassination. The evidence was wholly circumstantial. The perpetrator of the double murder was protected by a series of chances which might not happen again in a thousand years. And, finally, the case attracted national attention, and divided public opinion, as no criminal prosecution has done since, nor, to the best of my belief, as any murder trial in the United States had ever done before."

Thousands hoped that the truth would come out after Lizzie Borden died, that it would be proven at last that this prim Victorian spinster stripped off her clothes, slipped into the bedroom in which her father

The World AND THE Mud Puddles

SHOO' SPOOKY.

Sheriff F. R. Neale of Martinez, California, accidentally hit upon a plan to keep Negroes in his county in the straight and narrow path.

Looking about for work to keep prisoners busy, he assigned a group to clean up two neglected old cemeteries in the county. Fences were repaired, stones straightened up and shrubbery restored. Once or twice the squad worked until after dark.

The first inkling the sheriff had of the effect of this work upon Negro prisoners was when two of them left the county as soon as their terms were up. Not a member of that race has been in trouble with county officials since. They just don't like to work in those cemeteries.

PLYMOUTH ANNOUNCES THE SPECIAL SIX

RECENTLY you read about important reductions in Plymouth prices. This week Plymouth again makes news.

It's the introduction of THE SPECIAL SIX... and it changes the whole picture in the low-price field.

When Plymouth announces a new model, thousands of people go to see it. We urge that you take a few minutes of your time and join them.

It will pay you to do this for two reasons. One of them is the car itself... and the other its price.

You'll find a big car... a new "luxury" model... with all the major Engineering Features that made Plymouth famous... yet a 4-door Sedan costs practically the same as comparable models of the very lowest-priced cars—WITHOUT ALL THESE FEATURES!

Consider that statement. Think what it means.

It means that without spending an extra penny, you can own this Special Six with Hydraulic Brakes... instead of a car with ordinary brakes.

It means that your family can ride surrounded and protected by a BODY OF SAFETY-STEEL... instead of the ordinary composite kind.

It means that you can have the added comfort of Individual Wheel Springing and patented Floating Power engine mountings. You get all four major features without paying a penalty.

And finally it means real pride of ownership.

For here is a smart automobile... with the luxury features people want. And the 4-door Sedan is priced at $620 f. o. b. factory.

Today the prices of "All Three" low-priced cars are virtually the same. Don't buy blindfolded. Don't let "habit" rule your judgment. See this Plymouth Special Six at any Dodge, De Soto or Chrysler dealer.

Collection of taxes at the county treasurer's office on Monday fell to $1,784.44, as compared to $2,387.88 on the previous Monday, and $3,802.88 on last Saturday. The collections were distributed as follows: County, $1,128.78; state, $512.25; poor, $564.40. It has been noticed that collections are generally better during the latter half of the week.

Judy Commissioner's Clerk, Myrtle Miller, is preparing a list of names to be placed in the jury wheel for next year. Names are being sent in by county committeemen and others. It is necessary to check them to see whether or not they have been on a jury during the past two years, and also as to their eligibility to serve. The correct names and addresses of all persons whose names are submitted about fifteen hundred names are placed in the jury wheel each year. Owing to scarcity of work many welcome jury duty, whereas in good times, there were always many who desired to be excused. The pay for jurors is $3 per day.

There is a case pending in court now where a big property owner has been paying taxes on a property he sold many years ago, and through some oversight a transfer to the new owner's name was never made.

(International News Service)
HOLLYWOOD, June 20.—Jean Harlow, blonde screen star, has been in constant communication with her estranged husband, Hal Rosson, ac-cameraman, since he was stricken with infantile paralysis a week ago. It was learned today.

The information set Hollywood speculating as to whether there is a reconciliation in the offing for the star and her cameraman husband. Rosson was reported to have passed the crisis in his illness today. That there will be no lasting effects from the disease was revealed at the home of his sister, Gladys Rosson, where the cameraman is confined.

When this is taken to the county treasurer's office the amount which should be paid by the new owner of a property formerly belonging to you is taken off. Names of jurors who were summoned for the second week of criminal court, and who were later notified that their services would not be needed, were placed back in the jury wheel, according to Jury Commissioners George J. Forrest and B. Frank Thorn. The names will be drawn out at some later date.

Collection of taxes at the county treasurer's office on Monday fell to $1,784.44, as compared to $2,367.88 on the previous Monday, and $3,802.66 on last Saturday. The collections were distributed as follows: County, $1,128.79; state, $91.25; poor, $564.40. It has been noticed that collections are generally better during the latter half of the week.

Judy Commissioner's Clerk, Myrtle Miller, is preparing a list of names to be placed in the jury wheel for next year. Names are being sent in by county committeemen and others. It is necessary to check them to see whether or not they have been on a jury during the past two years, and also as to their eligibility to serve. The correct names and addresses of all persons whose names are submitted are required. As a usual thing about fifteen hundred names are placed in the jury wheel each year. Owing to scarcity of work many welcome jury duty, whereas in good times, there were always many who desired to be excused. The pay for jurors is $3 per day.

PLYMOUTH ANNOUNCES THE SPECIAL SIX

RECENTLY you read about important reductions in Plymouth prices. This week Plymouth again makes news.

It's the introduction of THE SPECIAL SIX... and it changes the whole picture in the low-price field.

When Plymouth announces a new model, thousands of people go to see it. We urge that you take a few minutes of your time and join them.

It will pay you to do this for two reasons. One of them is the car itself... and the other its price.

You'll find a big car... a new "luxury" model... with all the major Engineering Features that made Plymouth famous... yet a 4-door Sedan costs practically the same as comparable models of the very lowest-priced cars—WITHOUT ALL THESE FEATURES!

Consider that statement. Think what it means.

It means that without spending an extra penny, you can own this Special Six with Hydraulic Brakes... instead of a car with ordinary brakes.

It means that your family can ride surrounded and protected by a BODY OF SAFETY-STEEL... instead of the ordinary composite kind.

It means that you can have the added comfort of Individual Wheel Springing and patented Floating Power engine mountings. You get all four major features without paying a penalty.

And finally it means real pride of ownership.

For here is a smart automobile... with the luxury features people want. And the 4-door Sedan is priced at $620 f. o. b. factory.

Today the prices of "All Three" low-priced cars are virtually the same. Don't buy blindfolded. Don't let "habit" rule your judgment. See this Plymouth Special Six at any Dodge, De Soto or Chrysler dealer.

PRICES AND FEATURES OF THE NEW PLYMOUTH SPECIAL SIX

SEE WHAT YOU PAY

Four-Door Sedan $620	Two-Door Sedan $580
Town Sedan $655	Business Coupe $560
	Rumble Seat Coupe $590

SEE WHAT YOU GET

HYDRAULIC BRAKES. The safest kind ever perfected for an automobile. Always equalized. Eliminate dangerous swerving. Save frequent relinings. Ask any Plymouth owner if he would go back to mechanical brakes!

SAFETY-STEEL BODY. The best safety insurance that you can have on today's crowded highways.

FLOATING POWER Engine Mountings. They keep vibration away from you. You ride fully relaxed.

INDIVIDUAL WHEEL SPRINGING. The best of the so-called "knee-type" springs, as used on the most expensive cars, for a more comfortable back-seat ride.

T-Slot Pistons with four rings instead of three. Four-bearing Crankshaft—Valve-seat Inserts—Oil Filter and Air Cleaner—Temperature and Oil Pressure Indicators on Instrument Panel—Steel Artillery Wheels—Dual Trumpet Horns.

Prices as low as $485 for Standard Plymouth. All prices f. o. b. factory, Detroit, subject to change without notice. Time payments by Official Chrysler Motors Commercial Credit Plan.

INTERESTING NEWS FOR WOMEN
Dry Cleaning Information

Since we no longer have control over silk shrinkage on a great many garments, we were compelled to purchase a new stretcher, especially adapted to silks which will enable us to stretch most garments without getting them out of shape.

This new stretcher is about the finest one on the market for this purpose. We might say from a technical standpoint that the reason for shrinkage is variation in the manufacturing of material make-up because materials are stretched in the manufacturing, which is unavoidable, and then treated with a sizing such as metallic salt, weighting and other forms of sizing which hold the material to its proper size. This holds true for both expensive and inexpensive silk materials.

After a certain length of time, the sizing and weighting of material deteriorates, loses some of its body and shrinks. The best indication from our experience is that certain garments are cleaned for the first time and returned to the customer without any shrinkage, but after a length of time if the garment is re-cleaned, shrinkage take place even though the garment receives the same careful cleaning.

This information is obtained from the National Institute located in Washington D. C., which has tested textiles for this purpose.

The NU-SKEEN treatment now used by Smith's adds body to the fabric, repels moisture, is stain resisting and prolongs the life of your silk dresses.

Smith's invite you to take advantage of this treatment especially recommended for silks. Just phone 885.

Offer Freak Dog To Scientists In Pittsburgh, Penna.

Dog Has Two Spines, Two

Eyes, And Walks
Like Rabbit

(International News Service)

PITTSBURGH, June 20.—A freak dog (that has a dual spine, two tails, different colored eyes and a gait similar to that of a rabbit today was offered to scientists for study by its owner, William Daugherty, of Bradock.

The solitary freak in a litter of five puppies, the dog is a female, Spitz, and is nine years old. In addition to its other peculiar characteristics, the dog apparently has two stomachs, as is evidenced by the fact that when it eats, one side of the body swells while the other side remains in its normal size.

One tail of the animal is short and brown, while the other is long and white. One eye is blue and the other black.

TICKET SALE TO END THIS EVENING

With advance reservations coming in in large numbers, indications today pointed to the largest attendance that has yet been noted at the annual Alumni Reunion in the Cathedral, Thursday evening.

Class sponsors will act as host and hostesses and will greet the class members as they arrive. They will be ushered to the tables in the dining room, where they may seat themselves in comfort awaiting the serving of the meal.

After the dinner, there will be the formal program in the auditorium, when an original revue, "In the Garden of No-Ca-Hi," will be presented by talented artists from the various classes of the high school. Dancing will conclude the program of the evening in the ball room of the Cathedral.

INTERESTING NEWS FOR WOMEN
Dry Cleaning Information

Since we no longer have control over silk shrinkage on a great many garments, we were compelled to purchase a new stretcher especially adapted to silks which will enable us to stretch most garments without getting them out of shape.

This new stretcher is about the finest one on the market for this purpose. We might say from a technical standpoint that the reason for shrinkage is variation in the manufacturing of material make-up because materials are stretched in the manufacturing, which is unavoidable, and then treated with a sizing such as metallic salt, weighing and other forms of sizing which hold the material to its proper size. This holds true for both expensive and inexpensive silk materials.

After a certain length of time, the sizing and weighing of material deteriorates, loses some of its body and shrinks. The best indication from our experience is that certain garments are cleaned for the first time and returned to the customer without any shrinkage, but after a length of time if the garment is re-cleaned, shrinkage takes place even though the garment receives the same careful cleaning.

This information is obtained from our National Institute located in Washington D. C., which has tested textiles for this purpose.

The NU-SILK treatment now used by Smith's adds body to the fabric, repels moisture, is stain resisting and prolongs the life of your silk dresses.

Smith's invite you to take advantage of this treatment especially recommended for silks. Just phone 885.

Dry Cleaning Information

Since we no longer have control over silk shrinkage on a great many garments, we were compelled to purchase a new stretcher especially adapted to silks which will enable us to stretch most garments without getting them out of shape.

This new stretcher is about the finest one on the market for this purpose. We might say from a technical standpoint that the reason for shrinkage is variation in the manufacturing of material make-up because materials are stretched in the manufacturing, which is unavoidable, and then treated with a sizing such as metallic salt, weighing and other forms of sizing which hold the material to its proper size. This holds true for both expensive and inexpensive silk materials.

After a certain length of time, the sizing and weighing of material deteriorates, loses some of its body and shrinks. The best indication from our experience is that certain garments are cleaned for the first time and returned to the customer without any shrinkage, but after a length of time if the garment is re-cleaned, shrinkage takes place even though the garment receives the same careful cleaning.

This information is obtained from our National Institute located in Washington D. C., which has tested textiles for this purpose.

The NU-SILK treatment now used by Smith's adds body to the fabric, repels moisture, is stain resisting and prolongs the life of your silk dresses.

Smith's invite you to take advantage of this treatment especially recommended for silks. Just phone 885.

NEW WILMINGTON

COLLEGE LIBRARY OPEN

Authorities at Westminster College have kindly consented to open the college library for the use of New Wilmington citizens for one day a week during the summer. The library will be open on Wednesday afternoon from two to four o'clock, with Miss Helen McCormick in charge.

ROTARIANS GATHER

A talk on Egypt, its immensity, its beauty, and its grandeur, was the theme of S. D. Pearson, New Castle, who spoke to New Wilmington Rotarians at their regular meeting on Monday night. Mr. Pearson has made three trips to Egypt and the Sudan, and captivated his audience with his description of the country.

CATCH NICE MESS

William Evans, son Owen, Walt Whitman and son Vincent, were three happy fishermen when they returned from the spacious waters of Lake Erie on Monday evening and exhibited 73 bass, five of which were around 15 inches in length, the rest being legal rock bass. The boys, both about 12 years of age, belied their age and landed more fish than did their parents. The nights fishing was spent near Misery Bay.

LOCALS CANCEL GAME

The long awaited rain finally reached New Wilmington on Monday. Just enough had fallen to check the locals in their game with Brent, scheduled for the Leesburg field on Friday night. Disappointed in not being able to play, the local lads were very glad to see the rain and will play the game at a later date.

Coach McKean will take his protégés to Sharpsville on Friday night where they will test a strong Sharpsville Merchants club. The locals have won ten games and have lost three to date. Blake has been doing the heaviest hitting for the locals, while Eagleson has been doing some stellar mound work.

ATTENDS ASSEMBLY

Dr. and Mrs. J. Ralph Neale and family left Monday for Ohio where they will spend several days. After spending a short time with relatives in Cambridge, Ohio, Dr. Neale will go to Oxford, Ohio, where he is commissioner from Mercer Presbytery to the General Assembly meetings.

ROTARIANS GATHER

A talk on Egypt, its immensity, its beauty, and its grandeur, was the theme of S. D. Pearson, New Castle, who spoke to New Wilmington Rotarians at their regular meeting on Monday night. Mr. Pearson has made three trips to Egypt and the Sudan, and captivated his audience with his description of the country.

CATCH NICE MESS

William Evans, son Owen, Walt Whitman and son Vincent, were three happy fishermen when they returned from the spacious waters of Lake Erie on Monday evening and exhibited 73 bass, five of which were around 15 inches in length, the rest being legal rock bass. ### LOCALS CANCEL GAME

The long awaited rain finally reached New Wilmington on Monday. Just enough had fallen to check the locals in their game with Brent, scheduled for the Leesburg field on Friday night. Disappointed in not being able to play, the local lads were very glad to see the rain and will play the game at a later date. Coach McKean will take his protégés to Sharpsville on Friday night where they will test a strong Sharpsville Merchants club. The locals have won ten games and have lost three to date. Blake has been doing the heaviest hitting for the locals. While Eagleson has been doing some stellar mound work.

FINISH POURING AT BRIDGE

After much red tape and formality had been gone through, and everything put into shape, RWD workmen were out an hour earlier on Monday morning ready to pour the floor and sides of the bridge on Oak street.

With strenuous effort the cement was all poured before the rain interfered and the bridge is now nearing completion.

Work on the Maple street extension is still going on however, with little progress being made since only a few men are working, and the road presents innumerable difficulties.

Police chronology for 24 hours ending at 3:30 p. m., June 19, ten arrests on charges as follows: Parking violation 6, keeper of disorderly house 1 and visitors to disorderly house 3.

It appears very much as though the core wall for the sludge beds at the city disposal plant will need considerable repaving as the result of the discovery that they have started to crumble and according to City Engineer Hoskins and Stanley Traser, a former councilman, the material used in the construction of the wall was not of a first class quality. In fact they mined no words to this effect yesterday when Hoskins took Councilman Joseph D. Alexander to inspect the walls. The footers or bottom portions of the concrete walls have withstood the elements but the portion which was set on top of the footer has not. According to reports there is no way of recovering from the firm which did the work. Some time ago an inspector for Fuller & McClintock, engineers, said the crumbling was due to the weather last winter, but Hoskins told council that "I am convinced that the work was not of first class quality." Five men now are employed repairing the walls and it is expected in time may have to be replaced.

State Highway department has commenced repaving of East Washington street, east of the Public square. In time all that portion, excepting that repaved last year, will be repaved both sides. The section between Beaver street and Shenango river bridge has been opened to traffic.

Sam Cornelius, frequent visitor to police court, can't take it. After he had been given a five ounce of castor oil in police court yesterday he sat down and said to the mayor, "Ugh, that's terrible. What is it, lard oil?" The castor oil treatment is proving effective in curbing frequent attendance.

Jack Young, dog catcher has moved his dog pond. It formerly was in the vicinity of the paper mill. However, someone twice opened the pond and Jack lost some prospective dollars when the dogs escaped alive with their ears. He has moved his pond to another location.

The flag purchased with RWD employees money and presented yesterday was given to C. C. Oulthard, superintendent of the park as a token of the esteem in which he is held by them. Since the CWA and RWD operations in the park Chris as he is known has shown them every cooperation and consideration.

Mayor Mayne may cause a shock for some of the beer parlors which permit an imbiber to purchase beer to be stocked on the table at 11:55 p. m. for consumption after Saturday midnight. It is said that a liquor board inspector is operating in this section.

However, we'd like to say this much, quite seriously, to everyone: If you're feeling kind of "slow on the up-grade" and generally below par, it may be that you have a sluggish intestine... due to lack of bulk in the diet.

New Head For Slippery Rock To Be Chosen Soon

Names Of Some Who Are Being Mentioned For Place

SLIPPERY ROCK, Pa., June 20.—Four trustees of Slippery Rock State Teachers College returned yesterday from a conference in Harrisburg with Dr. James N. Rule, state superintendent of instruction, over a choice of a successor to President J. Linwood Eisenberg, who resigned from the college last month under pressure.

Reports spread after the Harrisburg conference were that the new president of the school would be either Dr. Arthur W. Ferguson, superintendent of York schools; Dr. Charles S. Miller, superintendent of Lansdowne schools, or Dr. Paul G. Chandler, teacher at Millersville State Teachers College. A definite choice was expected within two weeks.

Trustees in the parley with Dr. Rule were Dr. W. F. Hockenberry, Mrs. Emma Guffey Miller, O. K. Bingham and John L. Wise. Dr.

Hockenberry and Mrs. Miller, national Democratic committee woman, were credited with leading a revolt against Dr. Eisenberg's "autocratic" administration, he quit to join the faculty of the Millersville school.

Authorities Investigate Details Of Story Told As To Death Of Manis

CORONER'S INQUEST IS SET FOR MONDAY

(International News Service)
WASHINGTON, Pa., June 20.—The story that George H. Bartholomew, 48, physical education instructor at Washington & Jefferson college, who is charged with murder, told of a fatal fight with George T. Manis, 23-year-old female impersonator, was submitted to a detailed investigation by authorities here today.

While Bartholomew remained in the county jail, county detectives and the district attorney studied all details of the case.

Delve Into Story
They displayed particular interest in Bartholomew's claim that he met Manis for the first time on June 6, just two days before the fatal fight in a field near Amity. Another angle the authorities sifted was the defendant's charge that Manis attempted to blackmail him on the first meeting and was insistent that he be given money.

It is hoped that both of these angles will be cleared up before a coroner's inquest is held next Monday.

Counsel Named

Robert E. Burnside, chief counsel for Bartholomew, said after a conference with his client, that Manis had threatened to go to W. & J. college authorities and "make up a story" about the physical instructor unless money was forthcoming.

He quoted Bartholomew as saying that Manis had nothing against him but that even a manufactured story might do some injury or cause trouble at the institution where he also acted as a wrestling and boxing coach.

We ought to be used to that by now, but it is just as well to protest.

A MEMBER of the British House of Commons suggests that, failing cash payment, we might accept something in the way of territory. The British will not give up any territory if they can hold on to it, which they can easily do in this case.

And apart from that, what good would it do us to acquire more territory and have some foolish congressman insist on giving it away? We could not possibly get from the British anything as valuable as the Philippines and we are doing our best to get rid of them at this moment.

The report also points out that three of the teachers dismissed had given 99 years of their 111 years of service to Bloomsburg. All three will sacrifice their chance to retire on annuities they had every right to expect, because they are not yet 62 years of age. Charles Wellesley, fourth in line from the conqueror at Waterloo. He was 85 years old, and inherited all his distinguished ancestor's titles, more numerous perhaps than those of any other living man. They had been conferred upon the original duke by many countries and rulers, grateful to the man who had disposed of Napoleon, whose genius kept them awake at night.

In connection with this Wellington's death, you are reminded of a fact that gave courage and presence of mind to his successful ancestor. The original Wellington, doing good work for his country in Spain, where he held supreme command of the Spanish armies, as well as of British forces, never actually met Napoleon until Waterloo. He met Napoleon's marshals in Spain, assumed that they were carrying out Napoleon's ideas, even when they were foolish, and formed a low opinion of Napoleon's genius. That gave him confidence when the great battle came.

WHAT WOULD you do if you suddenly found yourself quite rich, with a prospect of "easy riches" to come? Mr. Max Baer, new holder of the heavyweight prizefight championship, according to the New York Evening Journal, bought himself thirty-five new suits of clothes, "in tan, gray and pastel shades." There was a great crowd waiting outside the tailor shop to cheer him, and he wrote his autograph on a one dollar bill for a young girl. Fame is a wonderful thing.

MR. AND MRS. LA VARRE, exploring in British Guiana, studying native animals and looking for traces of gold and diamonds, met one thoughtful chief.

Mr. La Varre opened a trunk filled with brilliantly colored dresses for women, to be used in trading, and the chief ordered the trunk closed immediately, saying:

"If our women see them, they will want to put on clothes. When a woman is naked she is all right. But, put clothes on her and things begin to happen." That sounds primitive, but the Bible confirms it. Eve was "all right" until the apple made her feel the need of clothing.

POETRY is beautiful, but New York policemen don't care about it, connected with an arrest. A gentleman with a long, presumably imaginary title, a poet, and a former convict, suddenly ran off with a young girl of eighteen, and was caught and taken with her to police headquarters. There, addressing himself to "the forces of the universe," he began poetical prayer as follows:

"I am the first, original conception, I am the genius.
The laws of the universe are in harmony with me."

At that point, Detective Jerry Ahearn seized the poet's arm, saying: "Come one, break it up." The "poet-ex-convict-nobleman" assured the eighteen-year-old girl that his prayer "to the forces of the universe" would straighten everything out for them.

New York is interested in the convict-poet, in the young girl, and especially in the girl's forlorn father and mother, looking on while the "poet" prayed a preposterous prayer.

LONDON IS interested in the gruesome discovery of a woman's body: head, arms and legs missing, tightly packed in a trunk found in an English railway station and of the finding of two legs packed in a suitcase in another station. Once in so often, a murdered body is found in a trunk, that of a woman nearly always.

CUBA HAS REAL cause for agitation in the savage attack by gunmen, armed with machine guns, killing fourteen in a peaceful procession through the streets of Havana. The machine gunners fired in a car, it was overtaken, the gasoline tank opened, a match tossed in and the car and machine gunners all burned. We have our political troubles in the United States, but nothing as violent as that, happily.

THE YOUNG "Count of Paris" who might be king of France if the French people suddenly lost their wits, believes that he, so far as he knows a direct descendant of Hugh Capet, will soon be called to the French throne. He says:

"You would be astonished if you could know how weary France is of the present regime." The young pretender to the throne might be surprised if he could know how weary France was of her kings before she got rid of them, and how fortunate he is that the common sense of the French will keep him talking, not reigning.

IN CHICAGO, George Rogalski is in court, facing an indictment charging murder. He is accused of kidnapping a young child, and causing her death by leaving her unclothed in an ice house. The prosecution hopes to prove that the boy is four years old in which case he might be sentenced to life imprisonment. In earlier days he could have been hanged without loss of time, even if he had been much younger than fourteen.

There is no hanging of children now, but there should be some way of making other children safe against a precocious and vicious monster. Copyright, 1934, King Features Synd., Inc.

"Most school board members display a high degree of intelligence in administration of school laws. But ever so often something like this happens to go a long way toward destroying the faith of the people in their schools."

"I hope some day Pennsylvania will have every public school teacher on Civil Service or an equivalent tenure plan. I have vigorously advocated security of teaching jobs throughout both my Administrations."

PROBE W.&J. INSTRUCTOR'S STORY IN MURDER CASE

Bartholomew Stays In Jail

Authorities Investigate Details Of Story Told As To Death Of Manis

CORONER'S INQUEST IS SET FOR MONDAY

(International News Service)
WASHINGTON, Pa., June 20.—The story that George H. Bartholomew, 48, physical education instructor at Washington & Jefferson college who is charged with murder, told of a fatal fight with George T. Manis, 23-year-old female impersonator, was submitted to a detailed investigation by authorities here today.

While Bartholomew remained in the county jail, county detectives and the district attorney studied all details of the case.

Delve Into Story
They displayed particular interest in Bartholomew's claim that he met Manis for the first time on June 6, just two days before the fatal fight in a field near Amity. Another angle the authorities sifted was the defendant's charge that Manis attempted to blackmail him on the first meeting and was insistent that he be given money.

It is hoped that both of these angles will be cleared up before a coroner's inquest is held next Monday.

Counsel Named
Robert E. Burnside, chief counsel for Bartholomew, said after a conference with his client, that Manis had threatened to go to W. & J. college authorities and "make up a story" about the physical instructor unless money was forthcoming.

He quoted Bartholomew as saying that Manis had nothing against him but that even a manufacturer of trouble might do some injury or cause trouble at the institution where he also acted as a wrestling and boxing coach.

If Suddenly Rich, What? Clothes Make Things Happen.

THE UNITED STATES protests to Germany against the moratorium stopping payments for six months. Our American ambassador expresses "strongest regret that new losses are imposed upon American citizens."

We ought to be used to that by now, but it is just as well to protest.

A MEMBER of the British House of Commons suggests that, failing cash payment, we might accept something in the way of territory. The British will not give up any territory if they can hold on to it, which they can easily do in this case.

And apart from that, what good would it do us to acquire more territory and have some foolish congressman insist on giving it away? We could not possibly get from the British anything as valuable as the Philippines and we are doing our best to get rid of them at this moment.

THE DUKE OF WELLINGTON is dead, not the "iron duke" who had the good fortune to meet Napoleon when the latter was no longer the real Napoleon, winning the battle of Waterloo, from a shadow.

Charles Wellesley, fourth in line from the conqueror at Waterloo. He was 85 years old, and inherited all his distinguished ancestor's titles, more numerous perhaps than those of any other living man. They had been conferred upon the original duke by many countries and rulers, grateful to the man who had disposed of Napoleon, whose genius kept them awake at night.

In connection with this Wellington's death, you are reminded of a fact that gave courage and presence of mind to his successful ancestor. The original Wellington, doing good work for his country in Spain, where he held supreme command of the Spanish armies, as well as of British forces, never actually met Napoleon until Waterloo. He met Napoleon's marshals in Spain, assumed that they were carrying out Napoleon's ideas, even when they were foolish, and formed a low opinion of Napoleon's genius. That gave him confidence when the great battle came.

WHAT WOULD you do if you suddenly found yourself quite rich, with a prospect of "easy riches" to come? Mr. Max Baer, new holder of the heavyweight prizefight championship, according to the New York Evening Journal, bought himself thirty-five new suits of clothes, "in tan, gray and pastel shades."

There was a great crowd waiting outside the tailor shop to cheer him, and he wrote his autograph on a one dollar bill for a young girl. Fame is a wonderful thing.

MR. AND MRS. LA VARRE, exploring in British Guiana, studying native animals and looking for traces of gold and diamonds, met one thoughtful chief.

Mr. La Varre opened a trunk filled with brilliantly colored dresses for women, to be used in trading, and the chief ordered the trunk closed immediately, saying:

"If our women see them, they will want to put on clothes."

"When a woman is asked she is all right. But, put clothes on her and things begin to happen."

That sounds primitive, but the Bible confirms it. Eve was "all right" until the apple made her feel the need of clothing.

POETRY IS beautiful, but New York policemen don't care about it, connected with an arrest. A gentleman with a long, presumably imaginary title, a poet, and a former convict, allegedly ran off with a young girl of eighteen, and was caught and taken with her to police headquarters. There, addressing himself to "the forces of the universe," he began poetical prayer as follows:

"I am the first, original conception. I am the genius. The laws of the universe are in harmony with me."

At that point, Detective Jerry Ahearn seized the poet's arm, saying: "Come on, break it up." The "poet-ex-convict-nobleman" assured the eighteen-year-old girl that his prayer "to the forces of the universe" would straighten everything out for them.

New York is interested in the convict-poet, in the young girl, and especially in the girl's father, who, after a long, poetical prayer, prayed a preposterous prayer.

LONDON IS interested in the gruesome discovery of a woman's body, head, arms and legs missing, tightly packed in a trunk found in an English railway station and of the finding of two legs packed in a suitcase in another station. Once in so often, a murdered body is found in a trunk, that of a woman nearly always.

CUBA HAS REAL cause for agitation in the savage attack by gunmen, armed with machine guns, killing fourteen in a peaceful procession through the streets of Havana. The machine gunners fled in a car, it was overtaken, the gasoline tank opened, a match tossed in and the car and machine gunners all burned.

We have our political troubles in the United States, but nothing as violent as that, happily.

THE YOUNG "Count of Paris," who might be king of France if the French people suddenly lost their wits, believes that he, so far as he knows a direct descendant of Hugh Capet, will soon be called to the French throne. He says:

"You would be astonished if you could know how weary France is of the present regime."

The young pretender to the throne might be surprised if he could know how weary France was of her kings before she got rid of them, and how fortunate he is that the common sense of the French will keep him talking, not reigning.

IN CHICAGO, George Rogalski is in court, facing an indictment charging murder. He is accused of kidnapping a young child, and causing her death by leaving her unclothed in an ice house. The prosecution hopes to prove that the boy is fourteen years old, in which case he might be sentenced to life imprisonment. In earlier days he could have been hanged without loss of time, even if he had been much younger than fourteen.

There is no hanging of children now, but there should be some way of making other children safe against a precocious and vicious monster.

Added Mystery In Disappearance Of Bride

Met Poderjay, handsome Yugoslavian, on a trip to Scotland. He came to America. Couple wed last December in New York.

SALLY TUFVERSON

Mystery is added to mystery in the disappearance of Agnes Colonia Tufverson, woman lawyer of New York, following her marriage to Ivan Ivanovitch Poderjay in New York last December. Mme. Suzanne Ferrand, previous wife of the self-styled Yugoslavian army captain, says that a trunk belonging to the missing woman, and for which police were searching, had been repacked by her in Vienna recently and had been forwarded to Poderjay's sister in Laibach, Yugoslavia. Poderjay, held by Vienna police on instructions from New York police, says he married the lawyer because she asked him to, and that she knew he already was married, and that the bride gave him $34,200 in securities. Miss Sally Tufverson, sister, is trying to aid police in unraveling the mystery. It was to her that a cable came saying her sister was going to India.

DISCHARGE NEGRO IN STREET ROBBERY CASE

Thomas Hill, Negro, held for several days to answer charges of highway robbery as a result of a recent holdup on Bridge street, was discharged by Alderman Wallace J. Ewing yesterday.

The alderman, after hearing the case, ruled there was insufficient evidence to hold him.

Addison Ross left Friday for New York after spending a two weeks furlough from the U. S. Navy, visiting friends and relatives here and in Beaver Valley. Mr. Ross was formerly from this place.

Mr. and Mrs. Wilbur Riddle and family who have owned and managed the Enon Valley park and dance hall, are moving to Morado in a few days, where Mr. Riddle is employed at the tube mill.

The Governor Says

What Is Going On In Harrisburg—And Why

By GIFFORD PINCHOT
Governor of Pennsylvania

I wish to protest as vigorously as I can against school boards which issue blanket dismissals of their teachers, regardless of merit or length of service.

This is not a general practice. I am glad to say. But Dr. J. Herbert Kelley, Executive Secretary of the Pennsylvania State Education Association, has written me calling attention to the report of that Association's Committee on Professional Ethics and Committee on Civil Service on the Bloomsburg situation.

A careful investigation by the Commission showed that twenty-nine teachers were dismissed, ostensibly as an economy measure. But the fly in the ointment is that they were not even given a chance to teach at a lower salary.

The President of the School Board, according to the Commission's report, gave no more plausible reason for the dismissals than that the faction in power had promised to clean house, and that he thought the teachers' retirement system was "rotten class legislation."

On the same basis old age pensions and unemployment insurance would be "class legislation," which is ridiculous.

The report also points out that three of the teachers dismissed had given 99 years of their 111 years of service to Bloomsburg. All three will sacrifice their chance to retire on annuities they had every right to expect, because they are not yet 62 years of age. One has three more years to teach; one two, and another only one.

My attitude on this business of firing public school teachers without cause is stated plainly in my letter to Doctor Kelley. It follows:

"Dear Doctor Kelley: I am glad to have your letter about the dismissal of the Bloomsburg public school teachers. If, as the School Journal indicates, twenty-nine experienced and capable teachers were dismissed at one time, regardless of merit or length of service, without cause, that was a shameful thing to do. When teachers have given efficient and satisfactory service, as indicated in their retention over a long period of time, their blanket release is nothing short of a calamity. Such teachers and their families are not the only ones to suffer. Through this kind of abuse of power the school children are the real sufferers.

"Most school board members display a high degree of intelligence in administration of school laws. But ever so often something like this happens to go a long way toward destroying the faith of the people in their schools.

"I hope some day Pennsylvania will have every public school teacher on Civil Service or an equivalent tenure plan. I have vigorously advocated security of teaching jobs throughout both my Administrations.

"If there is one class of public employees that should not be harassed by fear of losing their jobs without justifiable cause, it is the men and women who are devoting their lives, with small pay, to the education of our boys and girls."

Americanism: Paying the workman in proportion to the publicity he gets; depending on publicity instead of doing good work.

Katherine Moorhead Found Dead In Bed At 11 O'clock This Morning

ELLWOOD CITY, June 20.—Death late this morning claimed one of Ellwood City's most active women, Katherine Moorhead, 51, who died at her home on Pittsburgh Circle.

Miss Moorhead was found dead in her bed at 11 o'clock. Death is believed to have been caused from an enlargement of the heart. She was discharged from the local hospital about three months ago and her general condition was reported good. Her sudden death came as a great shock to her host of friends.

Kiwanians Hear Of Relief Work On County Projects

Greer And Patterson Tell Of Accomplishments During Recent Months

Pinch-hitting for Administrator Louis B. Round of the Lawrence county RWD, at Harrisburg with Assistant Administrator Carl Leathers seeking a new appropriation for the relief work projects here, Phil G. Greer, RWD controller, and Frank D. Patterson, landscape artist for RWD park projects locally, today enlightened the Kiwanis club on the achievements of the RWD and the former CWA.

Mr. Round and Mr. Leathers, the speakers said, hope to secure enough appropriations to bring about the completion of the present RWD projects by August 1 or September 1.

Over 500 men are now at work on 24 different projects in the county. If the new appropriation is secured the number of men will be greatly increased and the local speed of the RWD projects.

Mr. Greer, who has controlled the RWD expenditures, confined most of his remarks to the financial side of the undertaking. He told the Kiwanians that "every cent appropriated by the CWA for the county has been spent on labor as it was intended to be."

Mr. Patterson, capable supervisor of the task of transforming the more than 250 acres of donated land into beautiful and useful parks, scenic centers and athletic spots, spoke of the advantages of a park system to any city.

"These parks are built by us, but they're yours to use," Patterson said in conclusion. "Make the most of them."

President J. D. Reebel has called a meeting of the Kiwanis board of directors for Friday at The Castleton.

Davis Testifies In Own Defense

Pennsylvania Youth Claims Shooting In Illinois Was Accidental

(International News Service)
AKRON, O., June 20.—Eight hundred workers at the General Tire and Rubber Co. staged a "Chinese strike" here today because of the alleged refusal of the company to meet their grievance committee.

There was no disorder in the mass refusal to work and workers reported to the plant as usual. They pulled chairs up to their machines and sat down, remaining idle.

The strike was called after a committee went to the company to complain against transference and seniority ruling and also to ask for wage increases in certain departments but the company refused to receive the group, it was charged.

Cross-examined by the prosecution, Davis testified he stopped here on his way to California on a hunting trip and to seek work as a bricklayer.

The charges against the young defendant grew out of the wounding of Deputy Sheriff J. H. Donnewald of Carlyle who attempted to question Davis last September.

Throughout his time on the stand, the prosecution failed to break down Davis' story that the shooting was an accident. He reiterated the statement that the gun went off while he and Donnewald both had hold of it.

Davis was on the stand for two hours. He answered questions clearly and quickly. Indications are the defense will rest its case early this afternoon.

Political Reform Plans Discarded

(International News Service)
WASHINGTON, June 20.—The political reform plans of the Roosevelt administration were quietly chloroformed with the ending of the 73rd congress. They may be revived next winter.

One of the measures which had the president's support was a bill prohibiting federal office holders from becoming delegates to political conventions.

It was a move to erase the tremendous advantage any president has in a campaign for reelection, as well as controlling nominations in state politics. The senate passed the bill but it died in the house.

Postmaster-General Farley prepared a bill placing all postmasters under civil service, but it was never presented to congress.

Admission officials apparently realized the measure in congress for patronage. The bill, it is generally admitted, would have been quickly strangled to death.

"Chinese Strike" In Tire Company Workers Refuse To Operate Machines, And Company Will Not Meet Demands

(International News Service)
AKRON, O., June 20.—Eight hundred workers at the General Tire and Rubber Co. staged a "Chinese strike" here today because of the alleged refusal of the company to meet their grievance committee.

There was no disorder in the mass refusal to work and workers reported to the plant as usual. They pulled chairs up to their machines and sat down, remaining idle.

The strike was called after a committee went to the company to complain against transference and seniority ruling and also to ask for wage increases in certain departments but the company refused to receive the group, it was charged.

Cross-examined by the prosecution, Davis testified he stopped here on his way to California on a hunting trip and to seek work as a bricklayer.

The charges against the young defendant grew out of the wounding of Deputy Sheriff J. H. Donnewald of Carlyle who attempted to question Davis last September.

Throughout his time on the stand, the prosecution failed to break down Davis' story that the shooting was an accident. He reiterated the statement that the gun went off while he and Donnewald both had hold of it.

Davis was on the stand for two hours. He answered questions clearly and quickly. Indications are the defense will rest its case early this afternoon.

Seven Bandits Are Unable To Lift Big Safe

Leave Safe Sitting On Sidewalk At Crescent, Oklahoma, And Make Escape

(International News Service)
CRESCENT, Okla., June 20.—A gang of seven bandits drove into Crescent early today, cut all telephone wires, held more than a score of persons at bay with sawed off shotguns, and after making an unsuccessful attempt to steal the Farmers and Merchants Bank safe.

Six of the kidnap victims were released a short distance from town and the seventh, Joe Stanfield, night watchman, was turned loose at Cushing.

Backing a truck up to the bank window the bandits shattered the glass and dragged the safe to the sidewalk. Residents aroused by the crash emerged from their homes and looked on as the bandit gang vainly tried to lift the safe into their truck.

Finally giving up the job as an impossible task the gang rounded up the seven captives who shielded their escape.

Commissioner In Elk County Denies Charges
(International News Service)
RIDGWAY, Pa., June 20.—White-haired, partially paralyzed, Thomas H. Ledden, one of three Elk county commissioners charged with illegal dealings in land, took the witness stand before a packed court room here today and voiced, in his own defense, a general denial of commonwealth accusations that already have consumed a week and a half in hearing.

Leaning on the cane he has been forced to use since he suffered a stroke in November, 1933, the nattily attired official walked to the stand alone for an exhaustive examination by Charles J. Margiotti, defense counsel.

He denied that he had conspired with the other commissioners to adjourn the sale of land known as the "Jones tracts" or that similar postponements had been made in the sale of property in Johnstown to favor certain purchasers.

Testimony of Frank O'Neil, commonwealth's star witness, the early date of the trial, came in for equally unflinching denial as Margiotti strove to batter down the damaging evidence introduced by the prosecution.

Refuses New Trial In Damage Case
Verdict In Truck Collision Case Is Sustained By Court

(International News Service)
PITTSBURGH, June 20.—New trial of a damage suit in which two Wilkes-Barre truck operators were named as defendants and granted not-guilty when a federal court jury returned a $1200 verdict in favor of Charles S. Little, the injured plaintiff, was refused by Federal Judge Nelson McVicar in an opinion handed down today.

Judge McVicar denied inadequacy in the jury verdict as alleged by Little in his motion for a new trial.

Granting of the non-suit to William Goldenbroski and Valentin Wellopski, co-partners in business at Wilkes-Barre as the Wyoming Valley Auto Transit Company, was justified by the evidence, he ruled.

The verdict was against J. Paul Hauck, of Rochester, Pa., in whose car Little was riding when they collided with the Wilkes-Barre truck on the highway between Kittanning and Indiana, Pa. Hauck was found guilty of negligence.

LARGEST LIQUOR STILL RAIDED IN OREGON
(International News Service)
PORTLAND, Ore., June 20.—The largest alcohol still to be raided in this section since repeal of the prohibition amendment—a 500-gallon "pot" which was discovered by federal authorities on the Boone's Ferry road, nine miles south of Portland—would have yielded the government $3,580 a month in taxes had it been under legal supervision, according to Earl Koehler, head of the alcohol tax enforcement unit.

The still could produce 200 gallons of 190-proof alcohol a day, Koehler said, on which the federal tax would amount to $3.80 a gallon or $760 a day.

They can't beat words into plowshares while there is so much profit in munitions shares.

BIRTHDAY PARTY
Miss Jennie Ventrella, of the New Wilmington road, entertained a number of guests on Tuesday evening at a birthday party in honor of her sister, Marietta. The affair was in the form of a lawn party.

At an appropriate time, the hostess served appetizing refreshments. The honored guest was showered with many lovely gifts.

The grand manner doesn't help a fellow much. People can't tell whether he's a movie director or a butler.

Kiwanians Hear Of Relief Work On County Projects

Greer And Patterson Tell Of Accomplishments During Recent Months

Pinch-hitting for Administrator Louis B. Round of the Lawrence county RWD, now at Harrisburg with Assistant Administrator Carl L. Leathers seeking a new appropriation for the relief work projects here, Phil G. Greer, RWD controller, and Frank D. Patterson, landscape artist for RWD park projects locally, today enlightened the Kiwanis club on the achievements of the RWD and the former CWA.

Mr. Round and Mr. Leathers, the speakers said, hope to secure enough appropriations to bring about the completion of the present RWD projects by August 1 or September 1.

Over 500 men are now at work on 24 different projects in the county—if the new appropriation is secured the number of men will be greatly increased and the local speeded.

Mr. Greer, who has controlled the RWD expenditures, confided most of his remarks to the financial side of the undertaking. He told the Kiwanians that "every cent appropriated by the CWA for the county has been spent on labor as it was intended to be."

Mr. Patterson, capable supervisor of the task of transforming the more than 250 acres of donated land into a scenic and useful park, scenic centers and athletic spots, spoke of the advantages of a park system to any city.

"These parks are built by us, but they're yours to use," Patterson said in conclusion. "Make the most of them."

President J. D. Reebel has called a meeting of the Kiwanis board of directors for Friday at The Castleton.

The charges against the young defendant grew out of the wounding of Deputy Sheriff J. H. Donnwald of Carlyle who attempted to question Davis last September.

Throughout his time on the stand, the prosecution failed to break down Davis' story that the shooting was an accident. He reiterated the statement that the gun went off while he and Donnwald both had hold of it.

Judge William T. Darr who presided at the trial sent word to the board through Attorney J. J. McDowell of Bradford, counsel for Lindermuth, he now felt the sentence was too severe.

Kiwanians Hear Of Relief Work On County Projects

Greer And Patterson Tell Of Accomplishments During Recent Months

Pinch-hitting for Administrator Louis B. Round of the Lawrence county RWD, now at Harrisburg with Assistant Administrator Carl L. Leathers seeking a new appropriation for the relief work projects here, Phil G. Greer, RWD controller, and Frank D. Patterson, landscape artist for RWD, park projects locally, today enlightened the Kiwanis club on the achievements of the RWD and the former CWA.

Mr. Round and Mr. Leathers, the speakers said, hope to secure enough appropriations to bring about the completion of the present RWD projects by August 1 or September 1.

Over 600 men are now at work on 24 different projects in the county. If the new appropriation is secured the number of men will be greatly increased and the local speeded.

Mr. Greer, who has controlled the RWD expenditures, confined most of his remarks to the financial side of the undertaking. He told the Kiwanians that "every cent appropriated by the CWA for the county has been spent on labor as it was intended to be."

Mr. Patterson, capable supervisor of the task of transforming the more than 250 acres of donated land into beautiful and useful parks, scenic centers and athletic spots, spoke of the advantages of a park system to any city.

"These parks are built by us, but they're yours to use," Patterson said in conclusion. "Make the most of them."

President J. D. Reebel has called a meeting of the Kiwanis Board of directors for Friday at The Castleton.

Davis Testifies In Own Defense

Pennsylvania Youth Claims Shooting In Illinois Was Accidental

(International News Service)
 CARLYLE, Ill., June 20.—Nineteen-year-old Thomas A. Davis, Jr., of Pittsburgh, Pa., resumed the witness stand today at his trial on charges of assault with intent to kill and robbery with a gun near conclusion.

Cross-examined by the prosecution, Davis testified he stopped here on his way to California on a hunting trip and to seek work as a bricklayer.

Charges against the young defendant grew out of the wounding of Deputy Sheriff J. H. Donnewald of Carlyle who attempted to question Davis last September.

Throughout his time on the stand, the prosecution failed to break down Davis' story that the shooting was an accident. He reiterated the statement that the gun went off while he and Donnewald both had hold of it.

Davis was on the stand for two hours. He answered questions clearly and quickly.

Indications are the defense will rest its case early this afternoon.

Political Reform Plans Discarded

(International News Service)
 WASHINGTON, June 20.—The political reform plans of the Roosevelt administration were quietly chloroformed with the ending of the 73rd congress. They may be revived next winter.

One of the measures which had the president's support was a bill prohibiting federal office holders from becoming delegates to political conventions.

It was a move to erase the tremendous advantage any president has in a campaign for reelection, as well as controlling nominations in state politics. The senate passed the bill but it died in the house.

Postmaster-General Farley prepared a bill placing all postmasters under civil service, but it was never presented to congress.

Administration officials apparently realized the pressure in congress for patronage. The bill, it is generally admitted, would have been quickly strangled to death.

"Chinese Strike" In Tire Company

Workers Refuse To Operate Machines, And Company Will Not Meet Demands

(International News Service)
 AKRON, O., June 20.—Eight hundred workers at the General Tire and Rubber Co. staged a "Chinese strike" here today because of the alleged refusal of the company to meet their grievance committee.

There was no disorder in the mass refusal to work and workers reported to the plant as usual. They pulled chairs up to their machines and sat down, remaining idle.

The strike was called after a committee went to the company to complain against transfers and seniority ruling and also to ask for wage increases in certain departments but the company refused to receive the group, it was charged.

Court Would Not Halt Split Up Of Aviation Firms

(International News Service)
 WILMINGTON, Del., June 20.—A motion for a preliminary restraining order to prevent the giant United Aircraft and Transportation Corporation from being divided into three separate companies was denied here today by Chancellor Josiah O. Wolcott.

The motion was filed by counsel for Max Goldberg of Salem, Mass., a stockholder in the concern. Denial of the motion followed closely on the heels of the filing of an injunction bill against the corporation by Goldberg's attorney.

The chancellor held that the "situation is not serious enough" to warrant issuance of a temporary restraining order, pending outcome of the hearing on Goldberg's injunction suit.

New Constitution Sought For State

(International News Service)
 HARRISBURG, June 20.—In drawing up its election platform last February 10, the Democratic party recognized the need for a new state constitution as well as recommended a special committee of the Pennsylvania Bar Association at its annual convention in Westerville next week, David L. Lawrence, Democratic state chairman declared today in a statement.

A plank in the platform urged the "modernization of the constitution of 1874 to conform with the conditions of 1934 through a constitutional convention."

Lawrence said the present constitution bases fundamental laws of the commonwealth on the standards of the "horse and wagon and low path era." The increasing number of amendments added every five years was proof, he said.

LARGEST LIQUOR STILL RAIDED IN OREGON

(International News Service)
 PORTLAND, Ore., June 20.—The largest alcohol still to be raided in this section since repeal of the prohibition amendment—a 500-gallon "pot" which was discovered by federal authorities on the Boone Ferry road, nine miles south of Portland—would have yielded the government $2,580 a month in taxes had it been under legal supervision, according to Earl Koehler, head of the alcohol tax enforcement unit.

The still could produce 200 gallons of 190-proof alcohol a day, Koehler said, on which the federal tax would amount to $3.80 a gallon or $760 a day.

"They can't beat words into plowshares while there is so much profit in munitions shares."

Seven Bandits Are Unable To Lift Big Safe

Leave Safe Sitting On Sidewalk At Crescent, Oklahoma, And Make Escape

(International News Service)
 CRESCENT, Okla., June 20.—A gang of seven bandits drove into Crescent early today, cut all telephone wires, held more than a score of persons at bay with sawed off shotguns, and after making an unsuccessful attempt to steal the Farmers and Merchants Bank safe kidnaped seven citizens and escaped.

Six of the kidnap victims were released a short distance from town and the seventh, Joe Standfield, night watchman, was turned loose at Cushing.

Backing a truck up to the bank window the bandits shattered the glass and dragged the safe to the sidewalk. Residents aroused by the crash emerged from their homes and looked on as the bandit gang vainly tried to lift the safe into their truck.

Finally giving up the job as an impossible task the gang rounded up the seven captives who shielded their escape.

Commissioner In Elk County Denies Charges

(International News Service)
 RIDGWAY, Pa., June 20.—White-haired, partially paralyzed, Thomas H. Ladden, one of three Elk county commissioners charged with illegal dealings in land, took the witness stand before a packed court room here today and voiced, in his own defense, a general denial of commonwealth accusations that already have consumed a week and a half in hearing.

Leaning on the cane he has been forced to use since he suffered a stroke in November, 1933, the natally attired official walked to the stand alone for an exhaustive examination by Charles J. Margiotti, defense counsel.

He denied that he had conspired with the other commissioners to adjourn the sale of land known as the "Jones tracts" or that similar postponements had been made in the sale of property in Johnstown to favor certain purchasers.

Testimony of Frank O'Neil, commonwealth's star witness in the early days of the trial, came in for equally unflinching denial as Margiotti strove to batter down the damaging evidence introduced by the prosecution.

Robber Asks For Pardon Today In Harrisburg, Pa.

(International News Service)
 HARRISBURG, June 20.—Claiming that he probably had saved the life of the man he and a companion robbed, Leroy Lindermuth today asked the pardon board for freedom from a 20 to 40-year sentence for assault and robbery imposed in Jefferson county in 1930.

With Harry Cook, Lindermuth robbed Sylvester Davis, 81-year-old Civil war veteran of $20. During the holdup Cook struck Davis over the head with a piece of wood and, according to Lindermuth's application, probably would have killed him had he not intervened.

Judge William T. Darr who presided at the trial sent word to the board through Attorney J. J. McDowell of Bradford, counsel for Lindermuth, he now felt the sentence was too severe.

Mortgage Bonds Liquidations To Undergo Probing

Investigation May Cause Re-
verberations In Some Circles Of Big Cities

By WILLIAM S. NEAL
International News Service Staff
Correspondent

WASHINGTON, June 20.—An investigation which may cause reverberations in the financial circles of several big cities was being planned today by the special House committee named to inquire into operations of real estate mortgage bondholders' protective committees.

With 1,000 complaints against these committees already on file, the committee, with the aid of investigators, plans to delve into liquidation of hundreds of millions of real estate mortgage bonds.

Cities definitely selected for investigation are New York, Philadelphia, Chicago, Detroit, San Francisco, Los Angeles and Washington. Others are expected to be added.

Rep. Adolph J. Sabath (D) of Illinois, chairman of the committee, outlined the program after an organizational conference. Final plans will be completed within a month.

"There are a thousand complaints now on file which will be sifted by investigators and other information is expected to be received," explained Sabath. "We will send investigators into several cities."

"One of the first things will be to determine whether the same practices are being followed in many cities and if there is a connection between them. It has been charged that a system exists."

Plan Subpoenas
"We plan to subpoena the list of bondholders from protective committees and may also subpoena the original lists from the issuing houses, since it has been charged that the protective committees will refuse the lists to other bondholders who may desire to enter bids for the properties."

The amount of defaulted real estate bonds has been estimated at $5,000,000,000.

Urges Resumption For All CWA Work

(International News Service)

HARRISBURG, June 20.—Resumption of the civil works administration as a permanent segment of the national economic structure was strongly urged today by Eric H. Biddle in his formal 136-page report of the CWA in Pennsylvania submitted to Harry L. Hopkins, federal civil works administrator in Washington.

Fine Experiment.
Terming the CWA a "magnificent experiment," Biddle reported to Hopkins:

"The cumulative experience of recent years, we believe, indicates that any far reaching program of public works should not be founded primarily on relief need. One is justified on the basis of experience of the CWA in believing that it would be a means of doing away with un-economic and socially undesirable work relief programs.

"The previous futile work relief programs which aimed to provide useful employment were, for the most part, a perversion of sound employment principles. Destitution had usually been the primary qualification for employment on these programs. The CWA established a new conception. Ability and willingness, not need, became the primary bases for employment. Here, then, was the assumption of the responsibility of government to the victims of industrial dislocation."

Refuses To Pay Fine For Traffic Violation; Jailed

Woman Goes To Jail At Butler After Arrest Near Portersville

(International News Service)

BUTLER, Pa., June 20.—Her refusal to pay a five dollar fine levied by a Squire for failing to observe a stop sign on the Perry Highway near Portersville, having netted her a night in jail, Mrs. Ralph Hinchliff, of the "Colonial Emersons", was en route to her Rockford, Ill., home today thoroughly disgusted with "the outrage."

Returning from a Connecticut prep school with her son, William, 18, Mrs. Hinchliff ignored a stop sign. A state highway patrolman arrested her and the fine followed a hearing before Justice of the Peace Will Lardin.

Rather than pay the fine, the woman went to jail.

Her son protested her confinement to Gov. Gifford Pinchot in a telegram. Her release followed shortly thereafter.

During the time she was in jail, Mrs. Hinchliff refused to eat or sleep. However, when released she went directly to a local hotel and had a full-course dinner. She also announced she had $13 with her.

"I will have more money when I get to Toledo," she added. "It was the principle of the thing, anyhow."

Puts Blame For Crimes On Darrow

Beamish Says Darrow's Action In Leopold-Loeb Case Responsible For Crime

(International News Service)

HARRISBURG, June 20.—If Clarence Darrow, noted criminal lawyer, had not saved Nathan Leopold and Richard Loeb from the Illinois electric chair for the murder of Bobby Franks the nation would not have seen its modern wave of kidnappings.

This declaration was made today by Secretary of State Richard J. Beamish while sitting as a member of the board of pardons during the hearing of the application of John Curry, youthful York county "hex" slayer.

Charles Edwin Fox, pleading Curry's case mentioned that Darrow had declared the murder conviction of 14-year-old Curry in 1928 to have been a "disgrace."

"That remark will fall on deaf ears with me," Beamish interjected. "If Darrow hadn't saved Loeb and Leopold there would have been many fewer kidnappings in this country."

Weekly Health Talk

"Not long ago a very fine specimen of middle-aged manhood came to a physician's office complaining of a pain in his chest. Examination indicated that he was suffering from a mild functional heart disorder; that is to say, his heart was organically sound but for some reason lacked normal tone. An intensive inquiry into his habits revealed that he had a 'big-muscle' complex and was violently exercising to that end daily. There is a lesson in this case," states Dr. Theodore B. Appel, Secretary of Health.

"There could be no question that this man had beautifully developed arms, legs and back. Viewed solely from the standpoint of the artist he was really a magnificent specimen. However, the other side of the picture presented the daily strain upon his heart caused by his five minute work-out morning and evening. Using the 'resistance' method of exercising, namely, pulling against imaginary weights, this man of sedentary habits thus twice daily placed a heavy, sudden and unnatural burden upon his most vital bodily organ. The cumulative effect over a decade was cardiac embarrassment. Consequently, he was advised to let his beautiful muscles go and limit his enthusiasm for exercise to a comparatively short daily walk."

"There are doubtless thousands of men no longer young who pride themselves upon their muscle development and fail to see the possible danger that such type of exercise is doing to them.

"Men, who in the nature of their work become strong through manual labor, develop muscles naturally and usually also the ability of the heart to take this kind of punishment. On the other hand, to live a physically cream-puff existence for all but ten minutes of the twenty-four hours and then go to it like a blacksmith is not the kind of thing that nature likes. And she is prone very definitely to show her displeasure, as in the case under discussion.

"Big muscles, therefore, can very properly be left to the man who need (and develop) them in their daily tasks, to the young athletes and to the 'strong' men. Clerks, professional men, in fact white collar workers of thirty-five or older can with profit omit the violent tax upon their strength that the development of Sandow muscles demand."

"To exercise is to be prudent. But to possess an undue affection for unneeded muscles to the point of developing them by hard, brief and intensive exercise daily is not treating one's heart with due respect."

Carmi Glover, superintendent of streets, said today employees of the city are scraping and rolling Chestnut street, Oak street, John street and Pearl streets after which the employees will be sent to the West Side to put dirt streets in condition.

Mortgage Bonds Liquidations To Undergo Probing

Investigation May Cause Reverberations In Some Circles Of Big Cities

By WILLIAM S. NEAL
International News Service Staff Correspondent

WASHINGTON, June 20.—An investigation which may cause reverberations in the financial circles of several big cities was being planned today by the special House committee named to inquire into operations of real estate mortgage bondholders' protective committees.

With 1,000 complaints against these committees already on file, the committee, with the aid of investigators, plans to delve into liquidation of hundreds of millions of real estate mortgage bonds.

CITIES SELECTED
Cities definitely selected for investigation are New York, Philadelphia, Chicago, Detroit, San Francisco, Los Angeles and Washington. Others are expected to be added.

Rep. Adolph J. Sabath (D) of Illinois, chairman of the committee, outlined the program after an organization conference. Final plans will be completed within a month. "There are a thousand complaints now on file which will be sifted by investigators and other information is expected to be received," explained Sabath. "We will send investigators into several cities."

"One of the first things will be to determine whether the same practices are being followed in many cities and if there is a connection between them. It has been charged that a system exists."

Plan Subpoenas
"We plan to subpoena the list of bondholders from protective committees and may also subpoena the original lists from the issuing houses, since it has been charged that the protective committees will refuse the lists to other bondholders who may desire to enter bids for the properties."

The amount of defaulted real estate bonds has been estimated at $5,000,000,000.

Mrs. Coo, when arrested, confessed she killed Wright by running him down with a borrowed car and running over him repeatedly, according to District Attorney Donald H. Grant, of Otsego county.

Wright's body was found in a ditch along the highway between Albany and Binghamton not far from the roadhouse last Thursday. It was at first believed he was the victim of a hit-and-run driver.

Man Drowns In Mill Reservoir

(International News Service)
CONNELLSVILLE, Pa., June 20.—Sudden illness today was ascribed as the reason for the drowning of Chester Prinkey, 23, of Normalville, who last night lost his life in the waters of Mill Run reservoir, a mile east of here.

Prinkey was at the reservoir fishing when he suddenly rolled from the bank into the water. Harold Woolley, a companion, rescued him, but a few moments later he again fell into the water and was drowned.

"One of the first things will be to determine whether the same practices are being followed in many cities and if there is a connection between them. It has been charged that a system exists."

Urges Resumption For All CWA Work

(International News Service)
HARRISBURG, June 20.—Resumption of the civil works administration as a permanent segment of the national economic structure was strongly urged today by Eric H. Biddle in his formal 136-page report of the CWA in Pennsylvania submitted to Harry L. Hopkins, federal civil works administrator in Washington.

Fine Experiment.
Terming the CWA a "magnificent experiment," Biddle reported to Hopkins:

"The cumulative experience of recent years, we believe, indicates that any far reaching program of public works should not be founded primarily on relief need. One is justified on the basis of experience of the CWA in believing that it would be a means of doing away with unemployment, and socially undesirable work relief programs."

"The previous futile work relief programs which aimed to provide useful employment were, for the most part, a perversion of sound employment principles. Destitution had usually been the primary qualification for employment on these programs. The CWA established a new conception. Ability and willingness, not need, became the primary bases for employment. Here, then, was the assumption of the responsibility of government to the victims of industrial dislocation."

Refuses To Pay Fine For Traffic Violation; Jailed

Butler, Pa., June 20.—Her refusal to pay a five dollar fine levied by a Squire for failing to observe a stop sign on the Perry Highway near Portersville, having netted her a night in jail, Mrs. Ralph Hinchliff, of the "Colonial Emersons," was en route to her Rockford, Ill., home today thoroughly disgusted with "the outrage."

Returning from a Connecticut prep school with her son, William, 18, Mrs. Hinchliff ignored a stop sign. A state highway patrolman arrested her and the fine followed a hearing before Justice of the Peace Will Lardin.

Rather than pay the fine, the woman went to jail.

Her son protested her confinement to Gov. Gifford Pinchot in a telegram. Her release followed shortly thereafter.

During the time she was in jail, Mrs. Hinchliff refused to eat or sleep. However, when released she went directly to a local hotel and had a full-course dinner. She also announced she had $13 with her.

"I will have more money when I get to Toledo," she added. "It was the principle of the thing, anyhow."

Puts Blame For Crimes On Darrow

Beamish Says Darrow's Action In Leopold-Loeb Case Responsible For Crime

(International News Service)
HARRISBURG, June 20.—If Clarence Darrow, noted criminal lawyer, had not saved Nathan Leopold and Richard Loeb from the Illinois electric chair for the murder of Bobby Franks the nation would not have seen its modern wave of kidnappings.

This declaration was made today by Secretary of State Richard J. Beamish while setting as a member of the board of pardons during the hearing of the application of John Curry, youthful York county "her" slayer.

Charles Edwin Fox, pleading Curry's case mentioned that Darrow had declared the murder conviction of 14-year-old Curry in 1928 to have been a "disgrace."

"That remark will fall on deaf ears with me," Beamish interjected. "If Darrow hadn't saved Loeb and Leopold there would have been many fewer kidnappings in this country."

"There are doubtless thousands of men no longer young who pride themselves upon their muscle development and fail to see the possible danger that such type of exercise is doing to them."

"Men who in the nature of their work become strong through manual labor, develop muscles naturally and usually also the ability of the heart to take this kind of punishment. On the other hand, to live a physically cream-puff existence for all but ten minutes of the twenty-four hours and then go to it like a blacksmith is not the kind of thing that nature likes. And she is prone very definitely to show her displeasure, as in the case under discussion."

"Big muscles, therefore, can very properly be left to the man who needs (and develops) them in their daily tasks, to the young athletes and to the 'strong' men. Clerks, professional men, in fact white collar workers of thirty-five or older tax upon their strength that the development of Sardow muscles demands."

"To exercise is to be prudent. But to possess an undue affection for unneeded muscles to the point of developing them by hard, brief and intensive exercise daily is not treating one's heart with due respect."

Maxie Baer In For Big Money

Baer Headed Toward Total Of About $250,000 For First Few Months

TITLE MAY BE WORTH MILLION

By DAVIS J. WALSH
International News Service Sports Editor

NEW YORK, June 20.—Jason had the golden fleece but he was only another man at the $2 window today compared to Max Baer, the brand new and not even "window-worn" heavyweight champion, as the big, serious, heavyweight kind of money began raining down upon him in something of a cascade. He's being paid $50,000 for his radio broadcasts. He'll make a quarter of a million before the first of the year. He'll do better later. It will be a long time before he does worse.

Baer, in fact, is destined to be the first heavyweight champion since Dempsey and Tunney to make more than the wages of a good, reliable charwoman out of the title. His immediate predecessors just didn't have it.

Fans Slayed Away.

Schmeling won the championship while resting on his elbow. There was over $700,000 in the house that night, so he did all right then. But afterward the populace stayed away in a body, fearing another elbow episode, and it was only in his second fight with Sharkey that it was persuaded to cautiously and timidly return. That was the night that Sharkey took the title, on a dubious decision, so the boys, never having cared for the man anyhow, turned aside with a well bred sneer.

As for Carnera, they always felt they could go down to Coney Island and see that kind of dramatic appeal. Baer does everything with a flourish. He knocked Carnera down 11 or more times and finally out with the loudest punches every heard around a ringside. The others were jabbers and grabbers and you can't dramatize that. All you can do is walk away and leave it, passing hurriedly off with averted gaze.

SPYING ON SPORTS

The possibility of the Detroit Tigers winning the American league pennant and meeting either the Chicago Cubs or the Pittsburgh Pirates, two of the current first division National league clubs, in the world series has excited the old timers.

If such a series should come to pass memories of some stirring struggles a generation ago will be reawakened.

The Tigers have not won a pennant since 1909 but from 1907 to 1909 the Detroit were the big bad Bengals, indeed, and nothing in the American league could stop them.

The three-times champion Tigers met the Cubs twice and the Pirates once in world series play, losing all three series.

The Tigers of those times were a truly great ball club. Plotted by the fiery, clever Hughey Jennings and paced by the incomparable Ty Cobb, then in the first flush of his greatness, the Detroit were supreme in their circuit.

Wahoo Sam Crawford, Big Charley Schmidt, Wild Bill Donovan, Germany Schaefer, George Moriarty, Donnie Bush, Charley O'Leary, what a gang that team was!

The Tigers have not Ty Cobb today but they've some better players at certain spots today than the 1907-1909 champion Bengals could claim. There was no Gehrig 25 years ago and that old mound staff wasn't as good as the current one is.

In their first world series—with the Cubs, the Tigers took a terrible beating. The best they could do was hold Chicago to a 3-3 tie in 12 innings to open the series.

Then the Cubs with Three-Finger Brown, Big Ed. Reubach, Jack Pfeister and Orvis Overall pitching rings around the Tiger batters won the next four games and the series.

The Cubs, you'll remember were led by Frank (Huck) Chance, who that year won for himself the name of the "peerless leader."

The following October the Tigers and the Cubs, again returned champions of their respective leagues, met once more in world series play. The result was virtually the same as the year before. However, this time the Tigers did manage to win one game, the third.

The great Cub mound staff and the deadly fielding of the famed Chicago triple-play combination, "Linker to Evers to Chance—cut the Tigers down."

So perfect was the Cub defensive play that despite the presence of Cobb and his clever batting cohorts the last two games were shutouts.

For the last time the Tigers got their chance at a world championship in 1909. The Cubs, by this time, had faded and Detroit found Pittsburgh as its world series rival.

PITTSBURGH, June 18.—"No ball team has ever been able to beat tough breaks; and that's the reason the Pirates are in fifth place today."

So opined Harold Traynor, henceforth to be known as Manager "Pie" Traynor of the Pittsburgh Pirates' National League ball club, in explaining why his team is in a slump. Traynor succeeds George Gibson who took over the pilot's seat of the Bucs in 1932. He continued:

"You can't beat things like what happened yesterday. Lloyd Waner made a slide for the plate but was called out by Umpire Reardon. I'm not alibing but I saw some pictures of the play and it looks as if Lloyd had the plate beaten."

Maxie Baer In For Big Money

Baer Headed Toward Total Of About $250,000 For First Few Months

TITLE MAY BE WORTH MILLION

By DAVIS J. WALSH
International News Service Sports Editor.

NEW YORK, June 20.—Jason had the golden fleece but he was only another man at the $2 window today compared to Max Baer, the brand new and not even window-worn heavyweight champion, as the big, serious, heavyweight kind of money began raining down upon him in something of a cascade. He's being paid $50,000 for his radio broadcasts. He'll make a quarter of a million before the first of the year. He'll do better later. It will be a long time before he does worse.

Baer, in fact, is destined to be the first heavyweight champion since Dempsey and Tunney to make more than the wages of a good, reliable charwoman out of the title. His immediate predecessors just didn't have it.

Fans Stayed Away.

Schmeling won the championship while resting on his elbow. There was over $700,000 in the house that night, so he did all right then. But afterward the populace stayed away in a body, fearing another elbow episode, and it was only in his second fight with Sharkey that it was persuaded to cautiously and timorously return. That was the night that Sharkey took the title on a dubious decision, so the boys, never having cared for the man anyhow, turned aside with a well bred sneer.

As for Carnera, they always felt they could go down to Coney Island and see that kind for ten cents. It's all a matter of dramatic appeal. Baer does everything with a flourish. He knocked Carnera down 11 or more times and finally out with the loudest punches every heard around a ringside. The others were jabbers and grabbers and you can't drama-tize that. All you can do is walk away and leave it, passing hurriedly off with averted gaze.

SPYING ON SPORTS

The possibility of the Detroit Tigers winning the American league pennant and meeting either the Chicago Cubs or the Pittsburgh Pirates, two of the current first division National league clubs, in the world series has excited the old timers.

If such a series should come to pass memories of some stirring struggles a generation ago will be reawakened.

The Tigers have not won a pennant since 1909 but from 1907 to 1909 the Detroiters were the big bad Bengals, indeed, and nothing in the American league could stop them.

The three-times champion Tigers met the Cubs twice and the Pirates once in world series play, losing all three series.

The Tigers of those times were a truly great ball club. Piloted by the fiery, clever Hughie Jennings and paced by the incomparable Ty Cobb, then in the first flush of his greatness, the Detroiters were supreme in their circuit.

Wahoo Sam Crawford, Big Charley Schmidt, Wild Bill Donovan, Germany Schaefer, George Moriarty, Donnie Bush, Charley O'Leary, what a gang that team was!

The Tigers have no Ty Cobb today but they've some better players at certain spots today than the 1907-1909 champion Bengals could claim. There was no Gehring 25 years ago and that old mound staff wasn't as good as the current one is.

In their first world series—with the Cubs, the Tigers took a terrible beating. The best they could do was hold Chicago to a 3-3 tie in 12 innings to open the series.

Then the Cubs with Tlree-Finger Brown, Big Ed. Reulbach, Jack Pfeister and Orvis Overall pitching rings around the Tiger batters won the next four games and the series.

The Cubs, you'll remember, were led by Frank (Huck) Chance, who that year won for himself the name of the "peerless leader."

The following October the Tigers and the Cubs, again returned champions of their respective leagues, met once more in world series play. The result was virtually the same as the year before. However, this time the Tigers did manage to win one game, the third.

The great Cub mound staff and the deadly fielding of the famed Chicago triple-play combination—Linker to Evers to Chance—cut the Tigers down.

So perfect was the Cub defensive play that despite the presence of Cobb and his clever batting cohorts the last two games were shutouts.

For the last time the Tigers got their chance at a world championship in 1909. The Cubs, by this time, had faded and Detroit found Pittsburgh as its world series rival.

The series was battled as a clash between the heroes of the two leagues—Cobb of the American and Hans Wagner of the National. Wagner's side won, four games to three, but only after a savage seven-game struggle packed with thrills.

For the third time superior pitching won. Manager Fred Clarke's brilliant staff of Babe Adams, Howard Camnitz, Lefty Leifield, Nick Maddox and Deacon Phillips turning the balance in the Pirates' favor.

When the series was over not Cobb, but Wagner won acclaim as outstanding hero of the clash. He was Adams, Pittsburgh's kid hurler, who won three of the games, the last one a shutout.

Losing Streak Worries Grimm

CHICAGO, June 20.—If Manager Charlie Grimm of the Cubs is slated to go into the discard, as did George Gibson of the Pittsburgh Pirates, owner P. K. Wrigley refused to admit it today.

Answering recurring rumors of an impending shift in pilots, Wrigley declared: "All we ask of Grimm is to get the best out of the club and put a scrapping team on the field. Grimm has not been told he must win or else surrender. We are pretty well satisfied with the way Grimm has managed the Cubs so far."

On top of that Schumacher had two wild pitches against him. Neither team made an error. Yet when they totalled the score, New York had won, 5 to 3.

Lady Luck, in no small quantity of "X", is missing. Of that there is no question, according to the new pilot, the team is still capable of playing winning ball. Traynor has no doubts of that.

Cards And Giants.

What does the new pilot think of the rest of the league? In a nutshell, this:

"The Giants and Cards are and will be the teams to beat."

"Stengel has them all afire down Brooklyn way."

"The Cubs are floundering because of poor pitching."

"The Braves are a home-hot club. Philadelphia is doing remarkably well with the material they have."

"The Reds can't keep their endurance contest up forever. When they turn, they'll probably wipe up the league. Watch out!"

"And about the Pirates?" inquired the reporter.

"We'll have a burst of speed soon. And we'll get some breaks. We're not out of the pennant chase yet. And," he added significantly, "I'm not betting any money we won't win it."

Maxie Baer In For Big Money

Baer Headed Toward Total Of About $250,000 For First Few Months

TITLE MAY BE WORTH MILLION

By DAVID J. WALSH
International News Service Sports Editor

NEW YORK, June 20.—Jason had the golden fleece but he was only another man at the $2 window today compared to Max Baer, the brand new and not even window-worn heavyweight champion, as the big, serious, heavyweight kind of money began raining down upon him in something of a cascade. He's being paid $50,000 for his radio broadcasts. He'll make a quarter of a million before the first of the year. He'll do better later. It will be a long time before he does worse.

Baer, in fact, is destined to be the first heavyweight champion since Dempsey and Tunney to make more than the wages of a good, reliable charwoman out of the title. His immediate predecessors just didn't have it.

Fans Stayed Away.

Schmeling won the championship while resting on his elbow. There was over $700,000 in the house that night, so he did all right then. But afterward the populace stayed away in a body, fearing another elbow episode and it was only in his second fight with Sharkey that it was persuaded to cautiously and timidly return. That was the night that Sharkey took the title on a dubious decision, so the boys, never having cared for the man anyhow, turned aside with a well bred sneer.

As for Carnera, they always felt they could go down to Coney Island and see that kind of for ten cents. It's all a matter of dramatic appeal. Baer does everything with a flourish. He knocked Carnera down 11 or more times and finally out with the loudest punches every heard around a ringside. The others were jabbers and grabbers and you can't dramatize that. All you can do is walk away and leave it, passing hurriedly off with averted gaze.

SPYING ON SPORTS

The possibility of the Detroit Tigers winning the American league pennant and meeting either the Chicago Cubs or the Pittsburgh Pirates, two of the current first division National league clubs, in the world series has excited the old timers.

If such a series should come to pass memories of some stirring struggles a generation ago will be reawakened.

The Tigers have not won a pennant since 1909 but from 1907 to 1909 the Detroiters were the big bad Bengals, indeed, and nothing in the American league could stop them.

The three-times champion Tigers met the Cubs twice and the Pirates once in world series play, losing all three series.

The Tigers of those times were a truly great ball club. Piloted by the fiery, clever Hughie Jennings and paced by the incomparable Ty Cobb, then in the first flush of his greatness, the Detroiters were supreme in their circuit.

Wahoo Sam Crawford, Big Charley Schmidt, Wild Bill Donovan, Germany Schaefer, George Moriarty, Donnie Bush, Charley O'Leary—what a gang that team was!

The Tigers have no Ty Cobb today but they've some better players at other spots today than the 1907-1909 champion Bengals could claim. There was no Gehrig 25 years ago and that old mound staff wasn't as good as the current one is.

In their first world series—with the Cubs, the Tigers took a terrible beating. The best they could do was hold Chicago to a 3-3 tie in 12 innings to open the series.

Then the Cubs with Three-Finger Brown, Big Ed. Reulbach, Jack Pfeiffer and Orvis Overall pitching rings around the Tiger batters won the next four games and the series.

The Cubs, you'll remember were led by Frank (Huck) Chance, who that year won for himself the name of the "peerless leader."

The following October the Tigers and the Cubs, again returned champions of their respective leagues, met once more in world series play. The result was virtually the same as the year before. However, this time the Tigers did manage to win one game, the third.

The great mound staff and the deadly fielding of the famed Chicago triple-play combination—Linker to Evers to Chance—cut the Tigers down.

So perfect was the Cub defensive play that despite the presence of Cobb and his clever batting cohorts the last two games were shutouts.

For the last time the Tigers got their chance at a world championship in 1909. The Cubs, by this time, had faded and Detroit found Pittsburgh as its world series rival.

The series was battled as a clash between the heroes of the two leagues—Cobb of the American and Hans Wagner of the National. Wagner's side won four games to three, but only after a savage seven-game struggle packed with thrills.

For the third time superior pitching won. Manager Fred Clarke's brilliant staff of Babe Adams, Howard Camnitz, Lefty Leifield, Nick Maddox and Deacon Phillippe turning the balance in the Pirates' favor.

When the series was over not Cobb, nor Wagner won accolades outstanding hero of the clash. He was Adams, Pittsburgh's kid hurler, who won three of the games, the last one a shutout.

Traynor Confident Pirates Have Good Chance For Pennant

By JAMES C. KINKAID
International News Service Sports Writer

PITTSBURGH, June 19.—"No ball team has ever been able to beat tough breaks; and that's the reason the Pirates are in fifth place today."

So opined Harold Traynor, henceforth to be known as Manager "Pie" Traynor of the Pittsburgh Pirates' National League ball club, in explaining why his team is in a slump. Traynor succeeds George Gibson who took over the pilot's seat of the Bucs in 1932. He continued:

"You can't beat things like that happened yesterday. Lloyd Waner made a slide for the plate but was called out by Umpire Reardon. I'm not alibing but I saw some pictures of the play and it looks as if Lloyd had the plate beaten."

Breaks Of Game.

That was just one of the breaks that kept us from winning. They've happened almost every day."

He looked over the box score of yesterday's game. New York was outhit by the Pirates, 13 to 11. The Bucs had three bases on balls against one issued to the New Yorkers. New York had the edge on two-baggers, four to three, but the teams both had a triple apiece.

HERE AND THERE IN SPORTS' LAND

FEEBLE RALLY

(International News Service)
NEW YORK, June 20.—The stock market was a dull affair today with the main body of issues holding around their previous closing levels. Dealings continued restricted as the trading element apparently preferred to remain on the sidelines pending further clarification of the trend.

The market opened lower but firming tendencies appeared before the end of the first hour. Trading, however, became even slower at this time making determination of the list's direction difficult.

The commodity markets also continued heavy. Wheat and corn declined fractionally at the start, and cotton slid off about 25 cents a bale in light trading.

Opposition in the steel mills against a strike at this time aided the steel shares today and United States Steel staged a feeble rally.

Indications of a sharp gain in loadings, especially at the start, had a mildly beneficial effect on the carrier shares.

The alcohol shares were unsettled by the weakness in American Commercial Alcohol which dropped more than a point at the start and failed to stage any rally.

Aviation stocks also continued easy with United Aircraft losing fractionally. Utility stocks continued firm.

Stock Market
Is Dull Today

STEEL STAGES
FEEBLE RALLY

(International News Service)
NEW YORK, June 20.—The stock market was a dull affair today with the main body of issues holding around their previous closing levels. Dealings continued restricted as the trading element apparently preferred to remain on the sidelines pending further clarification of the trend.

The market opened lower but firming tendencies appeared before the end of the first hour. Trading, however, became even slower at this time making determination of the list's direction difficult.

The commodity markets also continued heavy. Wheat and corn declined fractionally at the start, and cotton slid off about 25 cents a bale in light trading.

Opposition in the steel mills against a strike at this time aided the steel shares today and United States Steel staged a feeble rally.

Indications of a sharp gain in loadings which would lift the total to the best levels of the year had a mildly beneficial effect on the carrier shares.

The alcohol shares were unsettled by the weakness in American Commercial Alcohol which dropped more than a point at the start and failed to stage any rally.

Aviation stocks also continued easy with United Aircraft losing fractionally. Utility stocks continued firm.

Ohio Girl Will Face Charge Of Murdering Man

Miss Leona Menser, 20, Resumes Care-Free De-meanor In Jail At Clarion

SELF-DEFENSE WILL BE PLEA

(International News Service)
CLARION, Pa., June 20.—Cheered by a visit from her mother, sister and brother, Miss Leona Menser, 20-year-old Ohio girl, resumed her carefree demeanor today in Clarion county jail, where she awaits grand jury action on charges of fatally shooting her matrimonial agency fiance.

After visiting Leona, who came here to marry, but remained to allegedly kill John B. Kelly, 61, her marriage bureau lover, Mrs. Frank Menser of Clarion, O., and two other children, Mrs. Gloria Spicer and George Menser, said they would make a return visit today.

Held for Murder
During their presence Leona cast aside her harmonica for a friendly family talk. But shortly after their departure her mouth organ playing and singing shattered the quiet of the dismal jail.

Leona, who claims she shot Kelly when he attempted to strike her during an argument over the date of their marriage, is held without bail on a murder charge.

Becoming acquainted with Kelly through a marriage agency, Leona said she corresponded with him eight months before he sent her $7 for bus fare from Coshocton to Clarion county. Even though she was not a young and wealthy as he pretended in their correspondence, the "harmonica playing" girl decided to marry him to "get a home of my own."

Secretary Perkins Seeks To Settle Steel Controversy

Will Put Proposal Of Green Up To Rulers Of Steel Industry

(International News Service)
WASHINGTON, June 20.—Rulers of the steel industry, all powerful and traditionally obstinate on unionization proposals, will be mothered to reconciliation by the country's first woman cabinet member, Secretary of Labor Frances Perkins.

The task of soothing the steel employers to agree on a procedure to guarantee their workers the right of collective bargaining as provided by the recovery act, was assigned to Miss Perkins by President Roosevelt. Her conference with the union chiefs made the strike threats of the disgruntled workers subsides to literal coos of approval of her plans. Recovery Administrator Hugh S. Johnson who had unsuccessfully tried to appease the employers and the workers, even flying to New York to personally appeal to the members of the American iron and steel institute, was given no part in the latest move here but Senator Robert F. Wagner (D) of New York, chairman of the national labor board, was called in by Mr. Roosevelt.

Ohio Girl Will Face Charge Of Murdering Man

Miss Leona Menser, 20, Resumes Care-Free De-meanor In Jail At Clarion

SELF-DEFENSE WILL BE PLEA

(International News Service)
CLARION, Pa., June 20.—Cheered by a visit from her mother, sister and brother, Miss Leona Menser, 20-year-old Ohio girl, resumed her carefree demeanor today in Clarion county jail, where she awaits grand jury action on charges of fatally shooting her matrimonial agency fiancé.

After visiting Leona, who came here to marry, but remained to allegedly kill John E. Kelly, 61, her marriage bureau lover, Mrs. Frank Menser of Clowville, O., and two other children, Mrs. Siora Spicer and George Menser, said they would make a return visit today.

Held for Murder
During their presence Leona cast aside her harmonica for a friendly family talk. But shortly after their departure her mouth organ playing and singing shattered the quiet of the dismal jail.

Leona, who claims she shot Kelly when he attempted to strike her during an argument over the date of their marriage, is held without bail on a murder charge.

Becoming acquainted with Kelly through a marriage agency, Leona said she corresponded with him eight months before he sent her $7 for bus fare from Coshocton to Clarion county. Even though he was not as young and wealthy as he pretended in their correspondence, the "harmonica playing" girl decided to marry him to "get a home of my own."

After visiting Leona, who came here to marry, but remained to allegedly kill John B. Kelly, 61, her marriage bureau lover, Mrs. Frank Menser of Clowville, O., and two other children, Mrs. Siora Spicer and George Menser, said they would make a return visit today.

He leaves his widow, Mrs. Minnie Price, and the following children: Mary Catherine, R. Edward, Robert Joseph, John Thomas, Margery Christine and Rita May Price. Two step-children, Mrs. Wilbert Buckenheimer, New Castle and James Devery, Monaca, also survive.

Secretary Perkins Seeks To Settle Steel Controversy

(International News Service)
WASHINGTON, June 20.—Rulers of the steel industry, all powerful and traditionally obstinate on unionization proposals, will be mothered to reconciliation by the country's first woman cabinet member, Secretary of Labor Frances Perkins.

The task of soothing the steel employers to agree on procedure to guarantee the workers the right of collective bargaining as provided by the recovery act, was assigned to Miss Perkins by President Roosevelt. Her conference with the union chiefs made the strike threats of the disgruntled workers subsides to literal coos of approval of her plans.

Recovery Administrator Hugh S. Johnson, who unsuccessfully tried to appease the employers and the workers, even flying to New York to personally appeal to the members of the American iron and steel institute, was given no part in the latest meetings here but Senator Robert F. Wagner (D) of New York, chairman of the national labor board, was called in by Mr. Roosevelt.

Drowning Of Girl In Creek At Niles Still Is Mystery

NILES, O., June 20.—Coroner J. C. Henshaw said his investigation had not been completed in the mysterious death of Dolores Allen, nine-year-old Niles girl who drowned in Mosquito Creek here early Tuesday.

A barking dog aroused residents of Evans street. The dog led a group of men to the creek, then jumped in and swam toward a dark, bobbing object. There was no outcry or other indication that the object was a human being. It soon disappeared under the water.

Police and firemen were called and soon recovered the girl's body. She was fully clothed. There were no bruises on the body.

Miss Allen had left a roller-skating rink late in the evening and walked with friends for several blocks. She was last seen near the creek about 45 minutes before the drowning.

Former Resident Dies In California

News Is Received Of Death Of Frank L. DuShane At Monterey, Cal.

Word has just been received that Frank L. DuShane, formerly of this city, died in Monterey, California, March 17.

Mr. DuShane, it will be remembered, spent his boyhood and young manhood days in New Castle, living in Pittsburgh street and attending the Central school. Later, being a very good baseball player, he engaged in professional baseball, playing in the old "Three I" league. When his baseball playing days were over, he became engaged in the hotel business and at the time of his death was manager of the Federal hotel, in Monterey, California.

Mr. DuShane's half-brothers were the late Smith DuShane and Jerome DuShane. Claire P. DuShane, who died several years ago, was a nephew of Frank DuShane, and this was rather odd, inasmuch as Claire DuShane was older in years than his uncle Frank. Incidentally, the grandfather of Claire and the father of Frank came from one of the Basque Provinces of France and enjoyed the notorious vitality possessed by the inhabitants of those provinces. The romantic personage of de Arriegan came from the Basque country, as well as Ferdinand de Lesseps, the engineer of the Suez canal. These New Castle people who knew Joseph DuShane, "Squire" DuShane as he was called, the father of Frank, will never forget the tremendous vitality of the man.

Mr. DuShane is survived by a wife and son.

Those who knew Frank in his lifetime will learn of his death with regret.

You can tell when you are smoking too much. If you weren't, you wouldn't be thinking about it.
